Recreation Taking Over Labor Day Weekend

The three-day Labor Day weekend, traditional closer of the vacation season opens tomorrow and recreation will take over as businesses and public offices close to allow a last outdoor fling before school starts.

The California Highway Patrol is braced for heavy highway traffic, and the Coast Guard expects a heavy turnout of weekend sailors.

By way of warning to travelers the National Safety Council reported today that a record number of Americans have died on the highways in the first seven months of this year. At the end of July the total reached 22,930, 5 per cent higher than last year's record-setting pace.

Campers and picnickers are expected to cram facilities in the county. Samuel P. Taylor State Park at Lagunitas reported that campers were waiting as early as 2 a.m. today and all camping sites filled this morning.

Heading the Marin County festivities will be the Sausalito Arts Festival which opens tomorrow at the Central School grounds and runs through Monday.

The fair will be open from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. with displays of art, demonstrations of handicraft and free entertainment by the Sausalito Little Theater.

There will be a performance by the San Francisco Mime Troupe Sunday at 1 p.m. and the King Hall Puppeteers will present their version of "Alice in Wonderland" Monday at 1 p.m.

The third annual Mozart Festival will fill the air with music at Stolte Grove, Homestead Valley, Sunday starting at 2 p.m. There is no charge to the public.

One of the major holiday events nearby will be the Scottish Caledonian games at Sonoma County Fairgrounds in

Taxes Average Out To $9 In County, Mitchell Reports

107 Districts Include Fire, Schools, Utilities, Sewer, Cities

The average tax rate in Marin will be $9 per $100 assessed valuation, Auditor-Controller Michael Mitchell told supervisors yesterday.

The average represents a range of taxes for various areas in the county covered by the 107 taxing districts in Marin, such as elementary, high school, junior college, sanitary, sewer, city, flood control, mosquito abatement, fire, community service, recreation, lighting, utility, hospital and other districts.

Supervisors at their meeting yesterday approved the tax rates for the various districts over which they have control while noting that others are autonomous.

Mitchell's figure for the average rate carried with it a note that in some areas in Marin the rate will be more than $10 per $100 assessed valuation. He reported to supervisors that a complete breakdown of tax rates in various cities and areas was not yet completed, but said that the lowest rate in the county would be in the Point Reyes area, $4.495 per $100 assessed valution; American Valley, $4.805; a portion of the Lincoln area, $5.305; another part of the Lincoln area including different taxing districts, $5.345; Lugna joint school district area, $5.455.

Mitchell's figures show that most lighting districts have a decrease in the levy as the Pacific Gas and Electric Co. last year lowered its rate per street light resulting in a surplus in carryover funds from the last fiscal year.

The three county service areas, which contract with the county for certain services, show a decrease in taxes: Loma Verde from 24 to 19 cents; Paradise Cay, from 23 to 18; Mariner Oaks, from $1.46 to 30 cents. (This due to a jump in assessed value from $30,000 to $191,000.) For the first time a tax is being levied in the Bolinas Highlands Road district, totaling 75 cents.

Five of the six flood control zones will have tax rates levied; no rate is indicated for the San Rafael Meadows district. The Novato Flood Control Zone will have a rate of four cents per $100 assessed valuation; Richardson Bay, 10 cents; Bel Air, 10; Stinson Beach, five; Santa Venetia, $1.

Only three of the six sewer maintenance districts will have taxes levied; Kay Park Number 2, 75 cents; Murray Park, 83 cents; San Rafael Meadows, 38 cents.

Five of the eight fire districts in the county show rises in tax rates; Bolinas, 43 cents; Kentfield, 75; Novato, 71; Stinson Beach, 68; Tamalpais, 80. One district, Sleepy Hollow, dropped its rate from 87 to 83 cents; two remained the same, Alto-Richardson Bay at 70 cents and Tiburon at 66 cents.

The mosquito abatement district rate was set at three cents; the Bay Area Pollution Control District, one cent.

Firm To Build $1.6 Million Power Plant

A. G. Schoonmaker Gets Contract For Ethiopia Work

A $1,600,000 contract to build a power plant to be installed in Asmara, Ethiopia, has been awarded to the A. G .Schoonmaker Co. of Sausalito.

Increased employment and activity at the company is promised because of the new contract as well as contracts for construction of other power plants and the firm's big land fill operation at San Rafael Cayes.

TO ADD MEN

"There is no question that our employment will be increased," T. L. Schoonmaker, president of the firm, said today. "We will add about a dozen men to our dredging operation alone."

The United Sand and Gravel Division of the company is about to commence the largest land fill ever undertaken in Marin, for the L. H. Lincoln Corp., developers of San Rafael Cayes. First phase of the development beyond the San Rafael canal will include 170 acres for houses, schools and boating facilities for 700 families.

DUE IN 1964

Schoonmaker said the division will begin working on a 24-hour a day basis soon.

Completion of the Ethiopian contract is scheduled for early 1964. It provides for construction of a 12,500 horsepower complex for the United States Air Force in Ethiopia. Schoonmaker will also soon begin work on diesel and gas turbine equipment for American River Constructors.

Ranch Fire Loss Put At $53,000

Pasture, 2 Barns Ruined

A spectacular $53,000 fire in North Marin leveled two barns, destroyed tons of hay, and spread over 25 acres of pasture land yesterday before 28 hard-working firemen could bring it under control.

The fire started shortly after 1 p.m. on the Eda Spaletta dairy ranch near the Point Reyes-Petaluma Road four miles from the Sonoma County line when the gasoline engine for a conveyer belt backfired sending flame into alfalfa hay.

HAY AFIRE

County firemen said that Howard Smith of Petaluma, driving a truck and trailer load of hay, had backed the trailer up to a 60-by-50-foot barn. He had started to unload hay when the conveyer motor backfired, igniting hay chaff and then the hay itself.

The hay barn was destroyed as flame and smoke towered into the sky. An adjacent feeding barn caught fire and burned to the ground. The fire was spreading into a milk barn when firemen succeeded in bringing the blaze under control at 3:50 p.m.

Also lost in the fire was 410 tons of alfalfa valued at $15,000, a 1,200-gallon water tank valued at $1,200, gates and fences valued at $1,000 and a sump pump valued at $300.

TRAILER BURNS

The trailer, belonging to Bill Cummings of Novato was also destroyed for a loss of $6,000.

Charles Spaletta, son of the owner said the trailer and most of the farm equipment were covered by insurance.

The county fire department, which received the alarm at 1:12 p.m., sent 25 men with eight trucks and two bulldozers. The State Division of Forestry sent one truck with three men.

Hay was still smouldering today, but the Spalettas were able to milk their cows this morning despite partial loss of one side of the milk barn, which suffered $5,000 damage.

'LAST PAY RAISE'

Kentfield Chief McLeran Resigns

By FRED WYATT

Kentfield Fire Chief John Ralph McLeran, 51, who expanded and improved his department and recently got the last pay raise he reportedly could expect, resigned last night effective Oct. 15.

The chief, six years as top officer and 12 years with the department, gave no reason in his letter of resignation, said Joseph L. Smith, chairman of the Kentfield Fire District board.

But fellow firemen said McLeran had given "personal reasons" for his action and it was reported his latest pay raise of $25 a month last July 1 to $750 a month had brought him to the top of the department's pay scale.

McLeran has a wife and six children and friends reported the pressure of his duties had become "too much of a strain on his family."

No action will be taken on a successor, said Smith, until the board holds its next regular meeting Sept. 26.

McLeran's resignation was submitted by letter. He did not appear at last night's board meeting and he was occupied with personal business and unavailable for comment today.

"He has been a good chief," said one fireman at the firehouse and several others nodded in agreement.

Questioned at their home, McLeran's wife, Margaret, said she was sure he would have no comment at this time on his plans.

Their children are a daughter Jackie, 18, a bank employee, and Charles, 10, John, 9, Freddie, 7, Mickey, 5, and Lauren, 3.

McLeran, born in Larkspur Aug. 12, 1912, has been a hard-rock miner, roofer and one of the U.S. Navy's first frogmen.

He served the Larkspur department a number of years as a volunteer before joining the Kentfield department as fireman in 1951.

He served for a time as a lieutenant before his appointment as chief at Kentfield in July, 1957.

In his time he has expanded the department from two paid men and 15 to 20 volunteers to eight paid firemen and about 30 volunteers.

The department has acquired a new pumper-ladder combination, and new squad truck and has remodeled its firehouse on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, equipping it with a club room and kitchen and living quarters for six.

Much of his work has consisted of pressuring entities in his district to observe safety rules. He insisted that Marin General Hospital provide ade-

JFK Appeals For Foreign Aid Funds

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (UPI)—President John F. Kennedy sounded a vigorous new plea today for the Senate to restore most of the billion dollars slashed from his foreign aid program.

Kennedy called newsmen to the Cape Cod White House to restate his insistence upon undoing the House action after meeting more than an hour with foreign aid director David Bell and retired Gen. Lucius D. Clay who headed a special committee which studied the program.

Unless the cuts are restored, Kennedy said, the United States "will not fulfill its commitments" to Latin America under the Alliance for Progress or be able to continue military aid to nations rimming the Iron Curtain.

"This will limit very much our ability to influence the events in these areas," Kennedy said.

'Hot Line' Goes Into Operation

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Washington and Moscow today began operating the long-projected "hot line" permitting almost instant communication between President John F. Kennedy and Soviet Premiere Nikita Khrushchev.

There are sending and receiving stations for the wire-radio system in the Pentagon and the Kremlin.

Lowered TV Camera Shows 'Body' In Mine

HAZLETON, Pa. (AP)—A man was to be lowered sometime today down the escape hole from where miners David Fellin and Henry Throne were rescued Tuesday to see if Louis Bova is in the same cavern 308 feet underground.

H. B. Charbury, state secretary of mines, said the decision was made after a television camera lowered into the chamber showed "what appears to be a man's body."

Charmbury, at the scene of the mine in nearby Sheppton, told a news conference "as a result of seeing the television this morning it was decided, though there was not unanimous agreement, that we think we have enough evidence for someone to go down the hole.

"The plans are in motion and someone has been chosen," he said, adding the identity of the man — "a pretty husky boy" — would be kept secret for the present.

After the television camera was removed from the hole, officials sent down a still camera which was expected to obtain clearer pictures of the object. The camera is a remote control affair which has its own lighting system.

Charmbury said these pictures would be developed before a man is sent down the hole. There was no indication how long this would take.

The television camera originally was lowered to (1) test the camera before sending it into a 12-inch shaft completed recently at a point where Bova had been believed to be trapped and (2) to get a look at the Throne-Fellin chamber.

Diem Moving Gold Into Viet Palace

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (UPI)—The government of President Ngo Dinh Diem is removing gold and foreign exchange from its banks to the presidential palace, reliable diplomatic sources said today.

The move was thought to be a precaution against the head-on clash between the Diem government and the United States which diplomats here believe is almost certain to come shortly.

The Diem regime, according to the sources, is moving the gold to the palace for transshipment out of Viet Nam to a place of safekeeping.

The sources said they believe that a demand by the United States for removal of the president's inflential brother, Ngo Dinh Nhu, who is thought to hold most of the real power here, is imminent.

Veronica Lake Returns To Acting

NEW YORK (AP)—Veronica Lake, 40, who became a movie sensation in the 1940s with her peekaboo hairdo then faded into obscurity, returned to acting last night.

Veronica

She appeared in "Best Foot Forward" at the off-Broadway Stage 73 Theater.

In the musical comedy, a revival of the 1940 Broadway hit, she plays Gale Joy, a tarnished movie queen whose star has begun to set.

Veronica, who once earned $4,500 a week, also is trying to start a comeback. "I'm really playing a burlesque of myself, of Veronica Lake," she said. "But I don't mind because I like to clown, and how else can you explain clowning?"

Highway Division Agent Suspended

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Edward P. Rice of Oakland, a Division of Highways property agent indicted for conspiracy to defraud the government in a freeway property purchase, has been suspended from his state job.

Rice

Robert B. Bradford, administrator of the State Highway Transportation Agency, yesterday placed Rice on leave of absence without pay.

The administrator also announced the state is moving to file a civil suit to recover losses it may have sustained in the purchase of 2.37 acres of land for an off-ramp for the Junipero Serra Freeway in San Jose.

Indicted with Rice—and on the same charge—were Jackson P. Gilliam of San Jose, former chief right-of-way agent for Santa Clara County and Edward W. Cutler of San Francisco, one-time appraiser for the state highways division.

Cuba Alerted For Possible Invasion

HAVANA (AP) — Cuba has alerted its militia and beefed-up artillery and antiaircraft defenses on its north coast amid widespread reports of a possible new invasion by anti-Castro forces.

Sources said last night the alert had been in effect since Monday. The military was understood to be watching particularly for any attack from Nicaragua or other Central-American nations which have offered refuge to anti-Castro exiles.

Jimenez Complains

CARACS, Venezuela (AP)—Ex-Dictator Marcos Perez Jimenez, confined here in a luxury cell, claims he was treated "like a pig" in a Florida jail.

Perez Jimenez, brought here earlier this month for trial on embezzlement charges, is in an air-conditioned cell. He has a television set and is allowed any other comforts he can buy.

Tax Cut Bill Action This Year Doubted

Smathers Says House Delay, Rights Reason

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. George A. Smathers, (D-Fla.), said today he doubts that the Senate will act on President John F. Kennedy's tax cut bill this year.

Smathers, third-ranked Democrat on the finance committee, said the long delay in the House on the bill and the probability of a Senate tie-up on civil rights legislation led him to the conclusion.

"Not long ago I thought it was a cinch to go through this year," he said in an interview, "but I've changed my mind."

STRONG SUPPORT

Unlike the two higher-ranked Democrats on the committee, Chairman Harry F. Byrd (D-Va.) and Sen. Russell B. Long (D-La.), Smathers has strongly supported a tax cut.

He said in June, "I believe that the greatest single need in our economy today is for a substatntial income tax reduction at the earliest possible date."

The key to the Senate tax situation is the civil rights bill, Smathers said.

LONG DEBATE?

If debate on that measure starts as expected in October and is prolonged for many weeks, it will be impossible for the finance committee to make any headway with tax hearings, he said.

Smathers estimated the public hearings on the tax cut might run six to eight weeks, with additional time needed for committee action on the measure.

Basde on past experience, the committee expects to hear about 200 witnesses on the bill. Byrd always has followed a policy of scheduling every applicant, although he has asked some industries affected by a bill to conslidate their testimony.

RIGHTS FIGHT

Normally, by meeting morning and afternoon, the committee hears about 10 witnesses a day. But during the civil rights fight it will be able to sit only in the morning and not even then if the Senate convenes earlier than the usual noon meeting time.

The finance committee now is expected to receive the bill in the latter part of September. As tentatively approved by the House Ways and Means Committee it will call for a net income tax reduction of 10.5 billion dollars in two stages, with the first scheduled to take effect Jan. 1, 1964.

DRIVER FINDS AGE AN END TO MOTORING

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — John Gordon decided yesterday to call it quits as a motorist after, police said, he ran a red light and hit a parked car, continued on and hit another, then turned the wrong way on a one-way street.

"I guess I'm getting too old to get around in this kind of traffic," Gordon said.

On Gordon's promise he was through driving, light fines totaling $25 were imposed in traffic court. Gordon is 93.

Housing Bill Drive Gets Few Signers

SACRAMENTO (AP)—A man circulating petitions in Sacramento County for a referendum on the 1963 legislature's law against housing discrimination says the number of signatures obtained so far is "not up to expectations."

The county clerk's office reported yesterday that 3,152 signatures had been filed. There are 235,000 registered voters in the county.

Earl Peterkin, who delivered the petitions, admitted to a reporter that the total was lower than hoped for, but said he expects to file 2,500 more signatures by Sept. 6.

Peterkin, who said he is a member of the Conservative Party, said the drive got a late start in Sacramento County.

He said the statewide drive against the housing measure aims to get 410,000 signatures. He said he had heard that 200,000 were ready to be filed in Los Angeles County.

Sadist Being Sought In Girls' Slaying

NEW YORK (AP)—A sadist was sought today as the slayer who butchered two career girls in their apartment.

Police apparently had no solid clues, but they leaned to the theory that the killer was the man who had made obscene calls to one of the victims — Janice Wylie, pretty blonde researcher for Newsweek magazine.

Miss Wylie's father, writer Max Wylie, said he thought the caller was "maybe a crazy kid who saw a pretty pair of legs."

The bodies of Miss Wylie, 21, and Emily Hoffert, 22, were found in their $250-a-month apartment by Wylie last night.

Detectives figure the slayer, who got into the apartment by means unknown, killed Miss Wylie first; that Miss Hoffert arrived home to find the murderer still there, and was killed to eliminate her as a witness.

Miss Wylie's body was nude, Miss Hoffert's was fully clothed. The bodies were bound together with torn strips of sheets.

Wylie, brother of author Philip Wylie, said yesterday he knew of two crank phone calls to his daughter, the last one about 10 days ago, and his wife thought there were three.

Miss Wylie and Miss Hoffert, daughter of Dr. Henry E. Hoffert, a surgeon in Minneapolis, shared the apartment in a fashionable East Side neighborhood with Patricia Tolles, 21.

Dr. Milton Halpern, chief city medical examiner, said preliminary autopsies produced "no obvious evidence that either girl was raped."

BANK'S FIRST CROWD

The Tiburon National Bank officially opened yesterday with a ribbon cutting, arrival of the "pony express" and a short talk by Rep. Donald H. Clausen (R-Crescent City). Here Clausen is speaking at the door of the Main Street bank. One of the five Marin Sheriff's Posse horses that relayed play money to the bank from Sacramento is in right foreground. Christians Are Urged To Fight Bias

CHICAGO (UPI) — G. Mennen Williams, undersecretary of state for African affairs, joined Negro James Meredith last night in urging that the Christian church rid itself of hypocrisy and move to end racial discrimination.

"Now is the time for action rather than watchful waiting," Williams told 1,000 ministers and laymen attending the second Methodist Conference on Human Relations.

The new surge against segregation is a challenge not only to U.S. Christians but to the viability of Christianity in Africa, he said.

"One of the most difficult matters to explain in Africa arises . . . out of the actions of some Christian churches when Negroes are denied freedom of worship," Williams said.

He quoted the Lagos, Nigeria, Daily Times, as saying: "We can forgive ill-educated whites who were brought up to regard their race as the superior race . . . but how does this explain the participation, actively or otherwise, of leaders of the Christian religion in a behavior which is the direct antithesis of the doctrine of the Great Nazarene?"

Meredith, the first Negro to graduate from the University of Mississippi, told the Methodists that they, as the second largest Protestant denomination in the United States, are "partly responsible for the fact that all Americans don't enjoy all rights and privileges guaranteed by the constitution.

"There's a lot of hypocrisy in our religion in this country," the Air Force veteran said. "It's difficult for me to understand how Gov. (Ross) Barnett can be one of the most respected Baptists in the state of Mississippi and hold the position and opinion that I am inferior to him."

Dixie Voters Haven't Yet Said No To Tax Hike, Bonds

By HELEN BRY

Dixie School District, with the highest school tax rate in Marin, has an enviable record at the polls. Voters have never said no to a tax boost, bond issue or state loan.

Supt. Dennie B. Willis, who this week proposed a new program to improve education in the district—a program that would call for another tax election, explained the voting success this way:

"The superintendent doesn't have to do the selling job, neither does the board. We've set up a program so everyone is acquainted with the schools; it's built around the local school. The teachers know the parents, the principal knows the people, people use the building . . ."

Dixie now has the highest tax rate, $3.03 per $100 of assessed valuation, of any elementary school district in Marin. It supports six schools, some 3,350 students and 122 teachers and Willis predicts further growth to two and one half that size.

At one time the 100-year-old district had only a few farm children attending the school on highway 101 near Miller Creek Road. The white painted wooden building now serves as part of administration headquarters where Willis has his office. As late as 1914, only about five pupils attended the school. Then the area began to grow.

"Everyone is new," Willis says. "When you move into a new subdivision community you know you have to pay for services. The people are young, with kids; there are no retired people who don't care about schools," he continued in explanation of the district's winning way at the polls.

District residents are relatively wealthy; "people who can buy a home here and live here are usually willing to pay for their education."

To help them along in their willingness, there is a program to make sure that everyone is acquainted with the schools.

"Kindergarten teachers will have met all parents by the time school begins," Willis said.

There are no requirements that teachers meet and get to know parents, but "the teachers who are hired know they have a responsibility of getting acquainted. Deep grained in our total philosophy is the belief that no teacher can be a success without doing that."

And for the past seven years there has been a continuing district wide Advisory Finance Committee of citizens appointed by the board of trustees, "not just when we want a bond election or a tax vote," Willis pointed out.

"We have continuously asked the voter to approve more than we need immediately," Willis said. "Why kid ourselves. This gives the board a chance for a continuing program.

Every two or three years we go out and explain the situation to the people, tell them what we want, tell them what we've done."

The next explanation may come next spring, if Willis's plan is approved by his board of trustees and gets the backing of the Dixie Teachers Assn. Voters may be asked to tax themselves an additional 20 cents per $100 assessed valuation.

Willis' proposal is to add 10 more days to the school year, require most of the teachers to teach summer school every third year and attend classes in the summer in return for a 10 percent pay raise.

History of voting in the Dixie district follows:

In 1955, when there were fewer than 150 persons voting, the tax rate of 90 cents was increased to $1.25. At that time the district was holding classes in the old Terra Linda community building and the old Dixie School while the Bernard Hoffman School was under construction.

The next tax rate increase, from $1.25 to $1.83, was approved in 1957. Voters approved a third increase in 1959 from $1.83 to $2.35, which is where the operating tax rate now stands.

A $50,000 bond issue and $250,000 state loan won approval in 1954. The proposals barely squeaked by, however, with just one vote more than ity.

It was a different story the next year when large majorities approved a $950,000 bond issue and $3,000,000 state loan in 1955. In 1961, a $4,000,000 state loan was approved with more than 1,300 voting for and 84 against.

Last April, a bond issue of $1,600,000, largest issue so far in the history of the district, was approved overwhelmingly in a vote of 1,275 for and 149 against.

New Marin Citizen Is From Germany

23-year-old Klaus Richard Christiansen of Fairfax was among 93 men, women and children who received their citizenship last week in the San Francisco Federal District Court of Judge Alphonso J. Zirpoli.

Christiansen lives with his parents, Christian and Marta Christiansen, at 232 Olema Drive in Fairfax. He is a student at College of Marin, majoring in chemical engineering, and intends to continue his education at University of California or Stanford University.

Klaus came to the United States from Germany seven years ago, one year after his parents arrived here. They had lived in a small Bavarian town called Radolfzell am Bodensee. Ironically, two of Klaus's three years in the U.S. Army were spent with the NATO forces near Radolfzell am Bodensee.

His father owns the Christiansen Danish Bakery on Broadway in Fairfax.

Four short films in the World Problems Film Series, sponsored by the Marin Peace Information Center, will be shown Thursday at 8 p.m. in the Mill Valley Community Church, Olive and Throckmorton streets.

Clausen Says County Could Become An 'Aviation Gateway'

Rep. Donald H. Clausen (R-Crescent City) told a group of about 30 Marin government and civic leaders yesterday that the county has the potential to become an "aviation gateway to the Bay Area."

Speaking at an informal luncheon, Clausen reported on his first session of Congress. He touched on such things as civil rights legislation, foreign aid and the railroad bill.

In reporting on local issues, he said he intends to continue pressing for a parallel runway for civilian use at Hamilton Air Force Base.

"I intend to carry this to the ultimate answer," he promised. He said, however, that he did not want to see defense facilities impaired. "If the answer is no, we will just have to pull in our horns and try something else."

Clausen said civilian develment at the field could bring an industrial park on the east side could provide an "aviation gateway to the Bay Area."

The congressman said that the seven million dollars for acquisition of the Point Reyes National Seashore was retained in the budget and purchase of land should begin soon.

Clausen said the development of the Tiburon net depot by the Department of Interior into a marine research center promises to be a big thing with a possible 100-million-dollar, 10-year development by the Bureau of Mines alone.

On civil rights, Clausen praised leaders of Wednesday's march for its smooth conduct. He said the civil rights issue was largely a regional problem and was particularly concerned about insuring voting rights to Negroes in southern states.

Foreign aid over the past 10 years has been a "boondoggle" with aid not reaching the people as it should in many countries, Clausen said.

However, the philosophy is changing, he said, and the program should improve.

Clausen said the railroad bill is only a stop-gap measure and he is pessimistic about the long-range outlook. Clausen also said that he is hopeful about the test ban treaty.

All county supervisors, excepting Chairman William D. Fusselman, attended the meeting along with other county officials, representatives of the Novato Chamber of Commerce, the Marin Development Assn., Assemblyman William T. Bagley (R-San Rafael) and State Sen. John F. McCarthy (R-San Rafael).

The National Geographic Society chose Amelia Earhart as the first woman to receive its Special Gold Medal, for being the first woman to make a solo trans-Atlantic air crossing. President Herbert Hoover presented her the medal.

The appointment was announced today by Dist. Atty. Roger P. Garety and Chief Charles J. Chiesa of San Rafael Police.

Kingston will go to work for the D.A. Sept. 15. His exact salary is still to be set by the county Board of Supervisors. The pay scale of a criminal investigator is $555 to $694. Kingston is now getting $623 as a San Rafael police officer.

Kingston was one of 12 who appeared before the oral review board this week. Six of them were certified to the district attorney.

Kingston's father, John J. Kingston Sr., was coroner in San Francisco from 1940 to 1952. Officer Kingston served as criminal investigator with the First Marine Division from 1952 to 1954, before joining San Rafael police.

He lives with his wife Barbara and their three children at 10 Fernwood Way, San Rafael. Kingston just turned 34 Monday.

They Fly To Fight Big Fires

By WARREN J. BRIER

MISSOULA, Mont. (AP) — A smokejumper is somewhat like a frail judo expert who climbs into the ring with a heavyweight.

He faces a larger, and stronger foe. But he knows that one swift, precise blow—if timed and placed correctly—can topple his opponent.

An elite corps of 175 men, on standby at Missoula throughout the summer, can be ready in minutes to fly to any area in the nation. Actually, most jumps occur in the Pacific Northwest, principally Montana and Idaho. But Missoula-based men also parachute into fires in Alaska or New Mexico.

Dedicated in 1954 by President Dwight D. Eisenhower, the Missoula smokejumper center was officially named the Missoula Aerial Fire Depot. The site includes a sizable training area that looks much like an Army paratrooper school. It is the largest of eight such facilities in the nation.

"We take considerable pride in our training program," says Henry J. Viche, air operations officer. "We've made 55,000 jumps since 1940 without a fatality caused during the descent or landing.

"About 1,000 young men apply for smokejumper duty at Missoula each summer. We take about 60 of them. We're choosy and we keep our standards high."

An applicant is rejected if he hasn't worked one summer on a regular fire suppression crew.

"Our typical smokejumper," says Viche, "is a college student about 24. He must meet demanding physical requirements but there are no limitations on academic background. We get them from all fields — we often get applications from divinity students."

Viche, born in Missoula, has been with the U.S. Forest Service for 34 years.

Viche directs all aerial operations in Region One — 33-million-acres that includes all of Montana and parts of Idaho, Washington and North Dakota.

A smokejumper looks like a low-level astronaut. He wears a white nylon suit, heavy gloves and shoes, crash helmet, wire mask, two orange and white parachutes and other equipment to aid him in any emergency.

He carries in a three-pound cylindrical belt kit a protective fire shelter that looks like a baby tepee. If trapped by a blaze, he huddles inside the recently developed aluminized cone capable of withstanding temperatures of 750 degrees.

"It's kind of a last resort," Viche says. "It has great potential in saving lives."

Once on the ground, the smokejumper cuts a trench ahead of an advancing fire. Eventually, he encircles the flames with a wide path utilizing heavier equipment as power saws dropped separately.

"The sooner we get to a fire, the better the chance of controlling it," says Viche. "Once a fire spreads over thousands of acres, we have to work on several fronts.

"Eighty per cent of the fires still are small when we get to them. We're able to confine them quickly."

First-year men are paid $2.20 an hour—a rate that also applies for overtime.

Italy Vacation Spot Has Green Sunsets

ISCHIA, Italy (AP)—This vacation island off the Bay of Naples boasts an unusual attraction—the green sunset.

At places along the island's north coast the growth of undersea plants and the color of the water cause an illusion at some seasons of the year when the sunset has shades of green instead of the usual red or orange.

Nikita Says Yugo-Rush Rift Healed

VELENJE, Yugoslavia (UPI)—Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev today proclaimed major Yugoslav-Russian differences at an end.

In a speech climaxing his current bury-the-hatchet visit to Yugoslavia, Khrushchev told a massive town square meeting here that "The basic questions between our parties and our people have been solved."

Waving his arms and jamming a pointed finger in the air, the Kremlin leader also tore into his Communist Chinese and Albanian opponents.

The Yugoslav audience cheered loudly and long.

He cried for the struggle for peace. He praised American and British "sincere cooperation" in making possible the recently signed partial nuclear test ban treaty.

Earlier, dressed in a miner's clothes, Khrushchev recalled with a tear in his eye his hard times as a youth in a "capitalist-owned" mine in Russia before the 1917 revolution.

Marinite Reports On March

The civil rights march in Washington, D.C. was "absolutely the most impressive thing I've seen," a Marin resident who took part in the march reported today.

"I am still somewhat awed by it," said Mrs. C. C. (Betty) Meredith of 55 Woodside Way, Ross. "I felt a certain humility during the whole thing. I could not have been nearly so eloquent as the speakers were at the rally . . . and I have never seen a more dignified day."

Mrs. Meredith, who flew to Washington with a California delegation from Los Angeles, returned to Marin early today. "I'm doubly glad I went," she said, "and the people of Washington were wonderful to us."

She and other Californians were given a buffet supper after the march at the offices of Rep. Augustus Hawkins (D-Los Angeles). Another Marin resident who joined the march, Max Beagarie Jr. of 404 Marin Avenue, Tamalpais Valley, is expected to return Sunday. Six members of the family of Belvedere attorney Vincent Hallinan also took part in the march and later traveled to New York.

Youth Beaten In San Rafael

A San Rafael youth was beaten up last night, but he declines to say who attacked him or where, Sheriff's Deputy Wade R. Powell reported.

The victim is Daniel Pimentel, 19, of 1318 Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael. He was treated at San Rafael General Hospital for swollen lips, cut under the right eye, and bruises on the legs, arms and head. The wounds were not serious.

Deputy Powell said all he could learn was that somebody stopped a car and beat up young Pimentel. The youth lost a ring containing a diamond.

Marin City's Summer Rec Program Ends

Children who attended the Marin City summer recreation program went home with mosaics, ash trays and waste baskets they had made, directors of the Marin City Community Services District learned last night.

Mrs. Santafe Moses, director of the program, said an average of 50 children, ages six to 12, attended the craft classes daily. Twenty-four Marin City teenagers served as Mrs. Moses' assistants.

"We did the whole program for $170," said John A. Thomson, board secretary, "leaving us $12 to put back into the district funds. Next year we hope to double our attendance."

'Weaknesses' Found At Swiss Club Tell

A preliminary inspection of the Swiss Club Tell in Mill Valley has revealed "structural weaknesses," Hans Berge, chief county building inspector, said today.

"The roof is sagging, and there are indications of other problems," he said. "We did not check inside, but we're going back. The plumbing inspector is at the club today, and I expect to have a thorough building and electrical inspection Tuesday."

William Castleberg, the club's caretaker, was fired Monday by club directors, who opposed his attempts to spend club funds repairing the club.

Leo F. Schwab, club president, today charged Castleberg with keeping all $240 from bar proceeds when he was supposed to keep only 10 per cent.

"That's correct," said Castleberg. "I have $231 which I intend to keep until they reimburse me for the $326 I spent out of my own pocket to pay the bills for cleaning up this filthy hole. I bought flooring for the rotted bowling alley and hired teen-agers to clear out the rubbish piled around the club.

"They don't want to be known as dirty Swiss. I'm a native of Switzerland, and it's a clean country."

"I do not intend to leave the club Saturday when they told me to go," Castleberg added. "They have to make a settlement."

Abraham Virdeh, county sanitarian, yesterday gave club directors seven days to present a plan to stop sewage from the club from running over the grounds. Castleberg notified the county of violations after directors disagreed with his clean-up program.

County Fire Chief Louis J. Bloom said today he has sent an inspector to the club, who found "rotting timbers all over the grounds. They had torn them out and someone had torn them out and was evidently doing some repairing," said Bloom. "I will make a personal check of the place the first of the week. It's a private establishment, but it's also a public gathering place."

Four Negroes Ate—Day Remembered

By AL KUETTNER

GREENSBORO, N.C. (UPI) — Four young Negroes walked into a five and ten cent store here on a chilly day in 1960, sat down at a lunch counter and ordered hamburgers.

The day is remembered by integrationists everywhere.

It was at a Woolworth's store at 132 S. Elm Street in downtown Greensboro on Feb. 1, 1960, that the Negro college students touched off the current wave of sit-in demonstrations which have helped remove segregation barriers at scores of Southern eating places.

The store where it all started provides one answer to the question, "After integration, what?"

At the noon hour on the busiest day of the week, a reporter counted the customers at the lunch counter—eight white, three Negro. Ten white customers and six Negroes waited for sandwiches at a standup counter nearby.

There is no evidence of discrimination at the sit-down counter. A Negro gets the same service and a polite "thank you" as the white customers rate.

The store is a typical example of a general removal of racial barriers in a city that has had almost 2,000 arrests in recent months because of racial demonstrations. Schools, parks, some of the theaters, about 25 per cent of the hotel and motel rooms and many restaurants now admit Negroes on an equal footing.

A bi-racial committee headed by W. O. Conrad, manager of the city's big Western Electric plant, is aggressively at work trying to find solutions to other points of discontent—mainly better jobs for Negroes.

Despite the progress, William Thomas, state president of the Congress of Racial Equality, says he is "not satisfied." He threatens to call for a resumption of demonstrations on the ground that "little if any work has been done during the present lull."

Negroes have asked banks here to hire more Negroes by Oct. 1 but Conrad is firmly against any sort of "quota" employment system. He is encouraging Negroes to equip themselves to get jobs on a competitive basis. He is also urging local business to hire more Negroes in the jobs they can do, then train them for better positions.

The four students who pioneered the sit-ins here are scattered but still keep up with the desegregation movement.

Ezell Blair graduates this year from the A and T College (Negro) here. Joe McNeil gets a commission in the Air Force soon. Frank McCain has been in Washington studying. David Richmond, now out of school, is working at two jobs.

Richmond recalled in an interview that the Greensboro sit-in of 1960 started on pure impulse.

"For about a week, we four fellows sat around the A and T campus where we were in school, talking about the integration movement. And we decided we ought to go down to Woolworth's and see what would happen.

"I didn't think it would go so far, but I would do it over. It was a wonderful experience."

Richmond said the action did "something to remove the fear among the white people and when the fear is gone, most of the problem is gone."

Richmond has a wife and two small children. Despite family obligations, both have been active in the recent demonstrations here.

Mrs. Richmond, who is studying computer operations in her spare time, was among those arrested during the marches. She now has a clerk's job in one of the department stores that had refused to hire Negroes.

On his recommendation the district had suspended the contract for fire protection of the hospital for more than a year. However, his men answered alarms from the hospital.

Mrs. Middleton was a native of Eagle Grove, Iowa, and worked 24 years in the governor's office in Des Moines. She was a member of the Order of the Eastern Star, the Supreme Chapter of the Order of the White Shrine and the PEO Sisterhood.

Larkspur Man Found Dead In Bed

A Larkspur neighbor became concerned yesterday when she noted that Artur Tolosko, 36, a private duty male nurse, hadn't picked up the mail at his home at 238 Madrone Avenue.

Larkspur police investigated at 6:45 p.m. and found Tolosko dead in bed and a note on the dining room table marked "police."

County Coroner Frank J. Keaton listed the death as an apparent suicide. Indications are that death was caused by an overdose of a toxic drug, he said. An autopsy will be conducted today.

Tolosko, a 36-year-old bachelor, who had given away some of his furniture this week, left instructions in his note for disposal of his property.

He was last seen alive Monday evening by a neighbor, Mrs. Elizabeth Chiles. Keaton estimated that Tolosko had been dead since about 9 a.m. Tuesday.

Tolosko reportedly had financial worries and was feeling ill, Keaton said.

Burglars Leave Break-In Trail In North Marin

They left a trail of break-ins, which sheriff's investigators were investigating today.

Keith R. Hershey of San Marin Plumbing Co. on Novato Boulevard found $200 worth of brass fittings missing from his warehouse this morning.

David Brennan of 2110 Las Gallinas, Marinwood, reported this morning that thieves entered his home last night and stole money and other household items.

Larkspur Tax Rate Is Voted: $2.11

A fiscal 1963-64 Larkspur city tax rate of $2.11 per $100 of assessed valuation, up 14 cents from last year, was passed 4-0 last night by the city council.

The tax rate is for approximately one half of the city that is inside the sanitary area. For Greenbrae and Bon Air, outside the sanitary area and paying separate sanitary taxes, the rate is $1.28.

The meeting threatened to turn into a continuation of the Aug. 8 talkathon when the council took more than three hours to pass the $408,000 budget, carrying a $14,000 deficit.

Councilman Neil R. Brixon saved the evening by moving for adjournment at 8:56 p.m. when Mayor Lesly A. Daveler was pausing for breath in midsentence. Councilman Robert J. Smith immediately seconded this and he and Brixon vanished.

City Mgr. Ronald E. Piper, city clerk Isabelle Moore and the Independent-Journal reporter also departed.

This left Councilman Vaughn Marker and Daveler alone in the chambers, presumably continuing to discuss Daveler's refusal to approve the estimated $225,272 revenue to be raised by property taxes.

As this was passed 3-1 with Daveler dissenting, Marker inquired, "May I ask why?"

Brixon cut in: "You'll be sorry."

Daveler said he was unhappy with the rise in property taxes and salaries, which he estimated had gone up about 25 and 22 per cent respectively each year during his time on the council. He offered no alternative to raising the $225,272 and no one but Marker questioned him.

The $2.11 tax consists of $1 general fund, 11 cents library, seven cents recreation, 83 cents sanitary and 10 cents drainage. The old rate of $1.97 was $1 general, nine cents library, five cents recreation and 83 cents sanitary.

Though the meeting was understood to have been called only to vote on the property tax total and the tax rate the session wandered into other subjects. Councilman James J. Lienkaemper, who had wanted to hold the agenda to the two financial matters, was ill and absent.

Daveler discussed "the tree ordinance situation" for possible changes. Piper urged that the council leave it alone until it receives City Atty. Samuel W. Gardiner's suggested legal changes.

Daveler urged Andrew Gilardi, whose planning commission term expired last June 30, be reappointed for four years. Brixon so moved and Smith seconded. Gilardi presumably was reappointed, though if a vote were taken it was done by telepathy.

Daveler asked for a city ordinance change regarding sign sizes in light of the council's recent action in overruling the planning commission and granting an extra-legally sized sign to Value World at Larkspur Plaza.

Daveler asked for a change in the application form for variances. Other councilmen urged this be referred to the planning commission. "Let's get on to our business," said Smith.

Still another hurdle loomed before the vote on the funds to be raised by property taxes. Daveler asked why the matter was handled by resolution instead of by ordinance.

Piper replied that state legislation passed two years ago at instigation of the League of California Cities with the aid of Gardiner had provided such action could be done by resolution. Resolution is faster, said Piper.

Action on the two financial matters was completed by 8:45 p.m. Eight minutes later when Daveler was about to suggest the latest in a series of new discussion topics, Brixon said, "We've accomplished what we came to do. I move we adjourn."

"Second," said Smith cheerfully.

Criticism Of Bodega Answered By PG&E

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Pacific Gas and Electric Co. has challenged an earthquake specialist's report that its proposed nuclear power plant at Bodega Head would be endangered by an earthquake.

The company said in a statement yesterday that investigations by experts establish that Bodega Head provides an excellent foundation for the proposed power plant.

S. L. Sibley, vice president and general manager, took issue with the report released yesterday by Dr. Pierre Saint-Amand, who said a big earthquake could throw the power plant as much as 20 feet from its base.

The San Andreas Fault runs close to the proposed site.

Sibley said the company's experts reported the rock foundation underlying the site "has not undergone any movement in the past few thousand years. The plant will not pose a threat to the public health and safety. The Bodega Head site is completely suitable for the location of the proposed plant," he declared.

The Atomic Energy Commission will hold hearings soon on the matter.

Mrs. Patchin, widow of Philip H. Patchin, a vice president of the Standard Oil of California, was born in Fairfax, Va.

Marin Montessori School Incorporates

Secretary of State Frank M. Jordan has announced the incorporation of the Marin Montessori School, whose directors intend now to apply to the state Department of Social Welfare for a license as a day nursery.

There are 500 such schools in the United States, schooling children of ages three to six years. They are named after Dr. Marie Montessori, the first woman medical doctor in Italy. The directors, who include Mrs. Samuel Riker of Sleepy Hollow and Dr. David Burton of Ross, are still looking for a site for the school.

"MG outshines anything I ever drove"

Gentlemen:

Just a short note to tell you how much I like my MG Sports Sedan.

I commute daily from Santa Clara to San Francisco (about 80 miles a day) in my car which I purchased from you in December of 1962. I average 32 miles per gallon and the ease of handling in heavy traffic is terrific. I formerly drove a large domestic car and I must say that my MG outshines anything I ever drove.

The car now has 20,000 miles on it and runs beautifully. On weekends we usually take a trip to the mountains with five of us in the car. The comfort is excellent and the liquid suspension system gives us a fabulous ride. My older boy took a ride and intends to buy one when he leaves the service.

I have driven my MG over 500 miles in a day and ended up completely relaxed. May I say "Bravo" to the British Motor Corporation on their creation of this car.

Sincerely yours,
Edward J. Taylor

Columnist Salutes Chef Jackson For 12 Years At Blue Rock Inn

A salute to chef Lou Jackson who's held out 12 years at the Blue Rock Inn, Larkspur, through several owners—he's that good. Noteworthy among Lou's dishes are his consistently excellent steaks, abalone, squab chicken, veal cutlets and sliced tenderloin with herbs—although the last he credits to his assistant, Jim Rogers. I bow to him, too.

Those doggie bags the patrons take home—if you ask me I'll bet Rover seldom gets the contents.

Business has been humming this year at the Blue Rock, says owner Bob Hosmer. Probably more new Marin arrivals are coming to know it, as do already most of the oldtimers. Service here is tops; so is the dining room arrangement.

Banjo player Bill Fischer and pianist Fred Gennert continue as Friday and Saturday night attractions—starting about 9 or 9:30, time for early diners to finish their meal if they prefer it in silence.

INVERNESS LODGE has also had a busy summer season—from cabin and restaurant patrons alike. After Labor Day the former may slacken off a bit, leaving more space for Marinites to grab a quiet weekend or two away from home. But for cabin use it's best to phone ahead.

Newcomers who may not have gotten acquainted out here should know that this is a hostelry and restaurant owned by the Milan Prokupeks, Czechoslovakians. Czech and Viennese dishes are served. Breakfast served 8:30-10 a.m.; lunch 12 to 2 p.m.; dinner from 6 to 9. Sunday dinners from 1 to 9. Closed Tuesdays.

THE BUILDING which housed the Colonel's Ranch Wagon may be taken over by Pete Lind of Pete's Pier 15 and moved to his progressing marine and long range club development in Novato across from Tomahawk Lodge. It all depends upon the feasibility of moving it.

Pete envisions berths for 200 boats, 150 floating homes, clubhouse, restaurant and bar. He has his own dredge working and may have the berths ready by spring. The rest will take longer.

GORDON TUCKER, formerly at the Embers in Corte Madera has moved to the piano at 39 Main in Tiburon. He plays Friday and Saturday nights.

FRANCHINI'S CHATEAU will be closed again Monday and Tuesday. Monday, of course, is Labor Day, and Tuesday is Chateau's regular closing day. Roy Franchini says this will give employees a rest after somewhat rugged remodeling pains in the kitchen.

RESTAURANTS affected by expense account legislation still aren't satisfied with the new question and answer booklet issued by the Internal Revenue Service. They say it does little to clarify anything, and spenders continue to hold back. The National Restaurant Assn. is pushing for a new, more simplified law. And less stringent, naturally.

RANCHO RAFAEL at Ignacio will continue the same service and policy it had under John Rickey, says new owner Max Key. Extensive plans for further improvements of property, restaurant and motel are also being considered. More motel units would be commensurate with developments proposed for that area and would probably pay off.

MARIA GRAY, newly signed lyric soprano for this year's Metropolitan Opera season, is none other than the daughter-in-law of Eugene Lackenbach, San Rafael restaurateur — which, of course, makes him as proud as one of his own peacocks. She's married to his son, Bob, photographer in Europe for Life Magazine.

HENRY'S OL' PLACE will be open Labor Day, 10 a.m. to 2 a.m. Dinner 5:30 to 9:30 p.m. Entertainment from 8 p.m. Also open for dinners now on Sundays from 5:30 to 9:30 p.m. for dinners—chicken and dumplings then.

THERE'S ALWAYS AN APPIAN WAY!

Highway construction at Ignacio, still an entrance problem for Nero's Restaurant and Nave Lanes, brought out the staff in costume to divert traffic. Husky Roman gladiators with mixed-up signs are lookalikes Rich, Bob and Bill Nave. Statesman in the toga is bar manager Ray Amonini, and cocktail waitress Audrey Ash lends eye appeal at the top. (Bob Hax photo)

Miss Gray has performed for years in Europe. Two years ago she did two coloratura roles for the San Francisco Opera Assn. She's booked at the Met as Eva in the Meistersinger, Donna Elvira in Don Giovanni and Mimi in La Boheme.

Eugene's will be closed Labor Day.

Holstein Cow Sets New Milk Record

Ocean View Duchess Madam 5077608, a 2-year-old holstein cow owned by Marvin L. Nunes of Point Reyes Station, has set a new record for milk and butterfat production, according to the Holstein-Friesian Assn. of America.

Its production of 14,011 pounds of milk and 533 pounds of butter fat in 305 days almost doubles that of the average cow, 7,211 pounds of milk and 270 pounds of butterfat.

THEY ALL LIKE MICE

There was a mouse in the house at the Terra Linda Cooperative Nursery School. The pet of the school is held by Susan Vaupen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Burton Vaupen, Terra Linda, in one of the basic science classes of the school last year. The school will add afternoon sessions this year, in addition to the usual morning periods. School begins Sept. 16 in the community center.

Novato, Pool Architect Smooth Over Dispute

Misunderstandings between Richard Banwell, city pool architect, and the Novato City Council were soothed in a two-hour discussion of the pool last night.

However, the meeting ended without Banwell getting the letter "to clear his name," that he requested.

He did tell the council that the double set of plans and specifications for the pool would be ready in 10 days to be submitted to the state. The hard feelings with the council has not delayed the pool, he said.

At its Aug. 13, meeting, the council members had expressed disappointment in the firm of Rockwell and Banwell on its handling of the Novato swimming pool.

Most of the misunderstanding apparently arose after the council thought that changes in the size of the pool and enlarging the wading pool would not substantially change the estimate. But the architects later quoted a $5,000 estimate for enlarging the pool.

Architects were hired by the council to design a pool costing $100,000, but the most recent estimate hit $115,000. Banwell told councilmen last night that this increase was due to the fact that the council asked for a larger pool.

"I thought everyone knew that a larger pool would cost proportionately more," Banwell said. He also stated that the original idea of a wading pool was a spray pool for kids to play in but when it had been enlarged and deepened to 18 inches it required a filter system and possibly heated water.

In other action, the council:

1. Approved a $140 claim from city planner Robert Lagle to get the rear end of his car repaired. While on city business on Aug. 6, his car was hit in the rear at the intersection of Novato Boulevard and Tamalpais Avenue by one driven by Claudia Helen Capurro of 14 Dusel Court.

2. Authorized the public works department to get bids from outside engineers on designing the Grant Avenue sidewalk bridge and the Warner Creek bridge on South Novato Boulevard.

Development Is Delayed In Fairfax

Action on a proposal to put 150 houses, duplexes and apartments on an 18-acre site above the Jolly Market in Fairfax was delayed until Sept. 26 by the Fairfax Planning Commission last night.

The development on hills above Sir Francis Drake Boulevard is planned by the Dunn-Weddel Co. and was first proposed to the commission Aug. 15. "They presented more detailed plans last night," said Chairman Dan M. Miller, "but we still have unanswered questions and want the city engineer to look at the plans."

ued till next month a request

Commissioners also contin- for rezoning of property between Olema Road and Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

Attorney Julius H. Selinger, representing owner Rose De Martini of Fairfax, asked for rezoning from light commercial to multiple dwelling. The land includes Rubini's Restaurant, and Mrs. DeMartini wants new zoning for undeveloped parts of the property.

6-Inch Water Main Splits In Belvedere

A six-inch water main split open under Peninsula Road in Belvedere around 7 a.m. today and squirted water over the edges of the road.

Approximately 40 homes in the area, near the end of the road, went without water throughout the morning. The main was repaired around noon today, according to George Eames, superintendent of the construction and maintenance department of the Marin Municipal Water District.

The pipe, which was about two and a half feet under the street, evidently had started to corrode, Eames said.

Ex-Vic Tanny Gym Manager Booked Here

A former manager of Vic Tanny's Gym in San Rafael was jailed this morning on suspicion of embezzling company funds during his eight months with the San Rafael gym.

Jose A. Blas, 28, alias Jose Chaco, was picked up in Yuba City and booked this morning by Inspectors Thomas Cheetham and Richard Camper of San Rafael police.

Police had been looking for Blas since March, when the embezzlement charge was lodged by Darryl William Brandstrom of San Francisco, district manager for Vic Tanny Gyms. Branstrom told officers Blas is suspected of accepting money for deposits or payments and pocketing it himself without putting it in a bank.

Blas is being held in lieu of $4.725 bail.

Motel Guest Checks Out— With Blankets

A motel guest checked out yesterday from San Rafael Inn Motel on Francisco Boulevard and took almost $40 worth of blankets with him, the motel manager complained to police.

Beth Ann Doty, the manager, said she rented unit 9 to a man who identified himself as Jerry Crusoe from El Paso, Tex. Yesterday morning he checked out, and the maid reported four blankets gone from the room.

Furthermore, he had rented a single room, but yesterday morning, a young blonde with shoulder length hair came out of the apartment with him and the two left together, the manager told police. She said Crusoe owes the motel $3 for the extra person in the room, in addition to the $9.95 for each blanket taken.

Marin MAGAZINE
Bright reading for the whole week
Featured this Saturday:

Summer school has been anything but a grind for 20 Reed Union School District children. They are the lucky boys and girls who were members of that district's "Outdoor Education" class. In tomorrow's Independent-Journal Marin Magazine, Corena Green will tell you about this unusual class which met with the great outdoor as its classroom and Mother Nature herself as one of its teachers.

Read any good books lately? Or have you been disappointed by buying books which didn't turn out to be what you expected, alter all? The Marin Magazine's weekly book section can help you to select the kind of books you want. To be reviewed tomorrow are "Behand the Burma Road" by William R. Peers, "The World and William Walker" by Albert Z. Carr and a number of other books fresh from the presses.

Good landscaping is standard treatment for Marin County homes and public buildings. And some industrial concerns also "dress up" their plants with well-designed and executed landscaping plans. These, however, are still in the minority. In tomorrow's Marin Magazine, writer Lee Cadwallader and photographer Robert Cadwallader report on what one such progressive manufacturing concern has done.

Marin's own magazine . . . picturing and reporting life in Marin today . . . personalities, recreation, coming events, book reviews, gardening, music, home improvement, weekly TV log. A week of good reading. Look for it, Saturdays.

Idle Equalization Officials Get Busy With Mischief

The tax collector is an unpopular fellow.

Over the years we have tended to make allowances for him. The government doesn't have much money that it doesn't take away from us taxpayers. Unfortunately for the tax collector, he is the fellow to whom we give the responsibility (and the authority) for taking our money from us for use by the government.

For the most part, we have looked upon the tax collector as a fellow more to be pitied than criticized, a kind of necessary evil.

But occasionally, a tax collector does something that seems to us to be almost an invitation for criticism.

At the moment, we are piqued by developments within the staff of the State Board of Equalization.

It is as if they had more employees on the public payroll than they have essential work to do. Hence, they must think up things to justify the continuance of their overgrown bureaucracy.

And how does one go about this search for justification?

All you have to do is think of ways to collect more additional taxes than your bureaucracy is costing; then you prove that it is "more than paying for itself."

But how do you find new ways to collect more taxes without having the legislature pass new tax laws?

This too is simple. You have "experts" who study existing laws to see how they can be stretched to cover situations never dreamed of when the legislature originally voted the laws.

The State Board of Equalization staff seems to be quite expert at this. And since the Board is no longer charged with liquor licensing and liquor law enforcement, the staff seems to have more time to dream up ways to take more taxes away from the public.

We have run into a couple of prime examples recently.

First, buy a roll of movie film. You pay a sales tax to the State Board of Equalization. After the film is shot, you send it in for processing. And the bill for processing is taxed again.

We all know that the legislature had no intention of applying the sales tax to labor, processing, services and so on. The legislature originally intended the sales tax to apply only on purchase of certain consumer goods.

But look how the tax collectors have stretched it.

Take Green Stamps.

When you buy a shirt you pay, say, $5 for the shirt and the Green Stamps, which latter you certainly do pay for—they're not free. You have paid tax on your dual purchase. You have paid a tax on the Green Stamps you bought as well as the shirt.

When you have enough stamps, you take them to the "redemption store." Lo, you pay sales tax again on what you already paid tax for when you bought the stamps.

The legislature never put anything like that in the law when the sales tax was enacted.

How do you deal with this sort of behavior by civil service tax collectors who comprise the staff of the State Board of Equalization?

It seems simple enough to us.

Just trim their budget sufficiently so all the staff has enough work to keep busy; don't provide funds for extra hands who sit around with nothing better to do than think up new ways to take more money away from taxpayers by methods never imagined by the legislature when the tax laws were voted.

THE LIGHTER SIDE

Goodbye, General! That Was Sure Some Mighty Fine Testimony!

By ART BUCHWALD

WASHINGTON—The wonderful thing about America is that anyone can testify in front of a Congressional committee without fear of repercussions.

Lately we've seen generals and admirals come up to the Hill and contradict their civilian bosses on such varied subjects as the TFX, nuclear testing, bomber procurement, and other military and political subjects. Not one of these officers have been criticized by their superiors for taking a stand different from the official one.

And yet one can't help wondering what happens when an officer comes back from the Senate after testifying that his civilian bosses don't know what in the hell they're talking about.

PERHAPS IT GOES something like this:

"Well, General! Congratulations on your testimony. We may not agree with what you have to say, but we'll certainly defend our right to say it."

"What's my desk doing out in the hall?"

"Oh, we decided to paint your office," his superior replies.

"Why wasn't I consulted?"

"Well, to be frank, General, someone else will be moving into your office. We've got big things in store for you."

"SUCH AS?" the General says.

"We haven't cleared it with the President yet, but we need you for a special job. We're very dissatisfied with our weather reports from northern Greenland and we need someone up there that understands the Pentagon thinking on weather."

"But that job doesn't rate a four-star general?"

"It hasn't in the past, and that's why the weather has been so fouled up. We decided to send a top man like yourself to make sure we're getting accurate information."

"Sir, I'm under the opinion that you are railroading me because of my testimony this morning at the Senate hearing."

"WE WERE AFRAID you'd think that, and that's why we hesitated to bring up these two important assignments at this time. Your testimony had nothing to do with our desire to beef up our forces in Greenland and Midway."

"Well, I'm not sure I want to go to Greenland or Midway."

"Would you consider the command of a rifle range in the Aleutian Islands?"

"I think I'd rather resign."

"I can't stand in your way, General, but we're all going to miss you."

The superior gets up from his desk and pins the Legion of Merit on the General's chest. "The Secretary wanted to present the medal himself, but he's up at the Senate hearings this afternoon trying to answer the testimony you gave this morning. He wanted me to tell you how sorry he was that you decided to leave and how much he admired you for your frankness in disagreeing with us on almost every point of the hearing. The Secretary asked me to ask you one more thing. Could he and his wife give you a cocktail party before you leave?"

THE CYNIC'S CORNER By Interlandi

Cat-Trapping In Mill Valley

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Not long ago, I wrote an article about how well the people, their children, dogs and cats—along with deer, raccoons, hawks, owls, crows, etc., all lived happily together on Hillside Avenue in Mill Valley—with no problems between the different species.

Wouldn't you know, I ended up with my foot in my mouth, 'cause we-uns got a feud a-goin' on ol' Hillside ridge!

Right on the front page of the I-J of Aug. 21, I learned we got a cat-trapper in a five-acre primitive wilderness area adjoining the back of our property. I must admit I have worried a little about this area as a fire hazard; however, the wildlife and domesticated animals enjoy it as a refuge, and I'm all for that.

This fellow says he is interested in bringing back the quail—and this is commendable. The quail have been disappearing slowly during the past 10 years. We used to have coveys of quail all over Hillside Avenue, but as more homes were built and people moved in they are no longer around very much. However, when we had an abundance of quail, there were 10 times as many cats as there have been in the past few years, and most of them didn't belong to anyone—they had to hunt hard to eat.

Most of the present cats are well fed and don't hunt much and few of them are out at night. During daylight, the quail always have their lookout up high and it is difficult for animals to stalk them.

I believe owls, hawks, crows, raccoons and snakes destroy more quail (and eggs) night and day on this man's property than any cats.

Fortunately, this fellow isn't using spring-type traps and with his box traps he doesn't harm the pets. However, it seems to me he has found a good method of winning and keeping enemies because if pet owners have to take off every few days to bail their cats out of the pound this will make their juices flow. It is difficult to put an identification on a cat since no one with any knowledge of animals would put a collar on a cat, as they usually manage to hang themselves with it.

The awful thing about this pet-trapping is that at the present time it is perfectly legal to trap in Mill Valley. A Dept. of Fish and Game trapping license isn't required so we have no idea how many people are now doing it. Anyone can trap your pet and you have no idea how to get it back.

Mill Valley needs an ordinance prohibiting trapping in the city limits. There should be only two exceptions in this ordinance:

(a) Properly authorized city and county personnel would be permitted to trap when necessary;

(b) Anyone should be permitted to use rat, mouse and underground gopher or mole traps for these rodents.

People would then know where to look for a missing pet.

Some years ago a pet cat of ours came home dragging a spring trap and chain. After having been in it three days the drive anchor pin had pulled out of the wood to which it had been fastened. The leg was broken and chewed up and the cat died a few days later from the resulting infection. Most domesticated pets can easily be lured into traps with the proper bait even by an amateur trapper. This is why dog poisoners are so successful. If a lot of discontented people start this trapping nonsense, it is going to result in an awful mess and will encourage the stealing of dogs and cats—some of which are quite valuable.

Pet owners ought to read the paragraph on "Posse Comitatus" in the California Penal Code. They will find that any citizen in the state can make an arrest for a misdemeanor committed in his presence and for a felony if there is good reason to believe one has been committed.

This means that should you find someone restraining your pet in his possession or transporting it other than on his own property, you could arrest him. If this occurred on his own property, you should go to your local law enforcement agency for the proper handling of the matter. I do not believe any city, county or state agency has the authority to give anyone permission to steal your pet. I believe your pet can only be taken legally by a properly authorized official or peace officer engaged in carrying out certain laws of the land.

Repaving On Highway 101

Editor, Independent-Journal:

The past five years has seen the four-lane Highway 101 in San Rafael paved five times, at least. I would not be surprised if one lane of the highway is blocked a third of the year during the day for painting, repairing, dividers and new construction.

Each time a lane is blocked the rear-end collision and injury rate increases. Surely modern highway engineering and planning is advanced enough to improve on this situation.

The Independent-Journal would perform a public service if it published a "Highway Watch" with reports on how much time the highway is blocked and the number of accidents that occur during those periods. The Division of Highways would soon become aware of the public's concern and take steps to improve on its methods and planning.

TRY AND STOP ME

BENNETT CERF

Two practical jokers shared a hotel room at a big convention in Chicago. One sneaked in early the second night of the doings, filled the bathtub and deposited therein two live ducks he had procured after a long search.

His companion was properly flabbergasted when he saw the ducks paddling about in the tub. "They must have flown in through the window while we were out," surmised the jokester. "Sure, sure," agreed his friend, "but what bugs me is—how the dickens did they turn on the water?"

Don Freeman encountered one lady in Las Vegas who hit the jackpot at 3:00 a.m.—and wasn't happy about it at all. "I'll have to be up another hour at least now," she grumbled, "before I can lose all these silver dollars."

Meet Marin's Oldest Committee Which Talks, Talks, Talks

IF THE PROPOSAL to unify the Tamalpais High School District ever gets to the polls, and, further, if it is approved by the people, this will be for one reason only.

Voters will at last see a chance to put an end, once and for all, to all the talk about unification. Sheer exhaustion, not any idealistic notions of one big, efficient district, will bring about success.

The talk has been going on now for years. The Marin County Committee on School District Organization must be the oldest committee in the county.

Of all the committees that have popped up over the years to propose, promote, support, oppose, defeat or heckle some idea, the CSDO (as it is affectionately called in the county school superintendent's office) has survived longest.

ITS LONG LIFE is not due to immense popularity. The committee continues only because it has taken on the quality of an institution, the origin of which nobody quite knows any longer. The committee exists, and therefore it is.

Voters were led to believe, years ago, that the committee could with little difficulty conduct an investigation of possible consolidation of school districts. It would present its master plan for streamlined school organization, then quietly die.

But committee members soon discovered there was quite a lot to say about unification. And they felt an urgent need to say it. It wasn't long before the committee augmented itself with a variety of local school board members. This was done because the committee was afraid it might run out of things to talk about as time went by, and it wanted to be sure the talk kept up good and strong.

LOCAL SCHOOL TRUSTEES had considered practice in talking about all kinds of things, and the committee welcomed their talents. A proposal to unify Tamalpais eventually worked its way out of all the talk, but committee members learned that decisions need not stand in the way of more talk. So they kept on talking.

They became so busy with debates and soliloquies that they found they had no time to study unification for North Marin, so they asked a private company of consultants to make the study.

The study was made with the guarantee that committee members might talk about it as long as they like. They are about to augment themselves again with more local trustees so that conversation won't lag.

Now, quite by accident, the committee has spawned children in the form of committees opposed to unification. The committee is too weak from talking to devour its rebel offspring, and these new committees will in fact prolong the life of the old committee. For, by defeating some unification schemes, the committees can perpetrate long discussion of other schemes—almost forever.

ALL OF THIS can be quickly and mercifully brought to an end if the people approve the biggest unification possible, provided they are given the chance. Maybe a countywide unified district would be best.

Then we can not only silence the committee members, but we will also have to listen to only one school board.

Washington March Was Symbolic Like Gandhi's To The Sea

WASHINGTON (AP) — The crowd is bigger, the walk shorter, but Wednesday's massive civil rights march in Washington had the same symbolic purpose as Mohandas Gandhi's unforgettable salt march to the sea in 1930.

Gandhi was 61 then. With a loincloth and a cane and 78 followers he marched 241 miles to the sea in 21 days to inspire his people to protest British rule and more immediately to a British law which made it a crime for any Indian to have salt he hadn't paid tax on.

By the time he reached the sea thousands of Indians had joined him.

THEN ON the beach he picked up some salt left by the waves. That was all. After that he withdrew.

It was enough. Along India's long seacoast thousands of Indians waded into the water with pans and helped themselves to salt illegally.

It was their way of showing they were fed up. They got their freedom but not for another 17 years.

The march here was notice in a gigantic way that Negroes are fed up with the injustice of discrimination and segregation inflicted on them through all American history. More immediately it was notice they want Congress to pass a civil rights bill.

IT HAS BEEN only in the last nine years that Negroes have learned they could hasten equal treatment and the rights guaranteed them only through direct and collective action.

The Supreme Court set equal treatment back by more than half a century when, in 1896, it ruled it was constitutional to segregate Negroes so long as they got equal treatment.

This was a contradiction in itself. Segregation by its very nature meant inequality.

Yet, as early as 1917 the court began undoing what it had done in 1896. It outlawed a Louisville ordinance which established white and Negro residential districts.

Bit by bit over the following years the court banned other forms of segregation in suits brought by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

BUT IT WASN'T until May 17, 1954, when it banned public school segregation, that the court threw out entirely the 1896 opinion by declaring that segregation was unconstitutional.

Nevertheless, the South has fought school desegregation so adamantly that today, nine years later, less than 8 per cent of Negro school children in the South go to desegregated schools. That has been a slow, painful road.

Negro demonstrations piled up until this year. After racial explosions in Birmingham and Jackson, Miss., President Kennedy sent Congress a stronger civil rights program than any president has offered in 100 years.

It's too restrained to suit many Negroes. But Wednesday's demonstrators were pressuring Congress for this program by their presence in Washington.

REMEMBER WHEN?

10 YEARS AGO

Marin sportsmen and conservationists joined to fight the navy's proposal to establish an aerial dummy minelaying area in the center of Drakes Bay.

Supervisor Chairman William D. Fusselman scolded Sheriff Walter Sellmer for asking overtime pay for his deputies, and the board told Sellmer it won't grant such extras except for holiday work.

20 YEARS AGO

Work started on a permanent breakwater for the Sausalito yacht harbor, providing replacement of three schooners anchored for protection of smaller craft. Clearing of the channel to Marinship had carried large amounts of silt into the city harbor.

San Quentin Prison announced a fuchsia show with all sales proceeds to go to the Red Cross toward purchase of a $1,600 blood donor unit.

The Country Parson

"I think mankind would be better off never to accomplish anything worthwhile than to do it by a means which is wrong."

Insults Chanted By Angry Whites

FOLCROFT, Pa. (UPI) — An angry crowd of white persons, chanting "down with niggers," milled around a bomb-damaged home recently purchased by a Negro today. One demonstrator was arrested following a pushing incident with state police.

Earlier, a Negro minister identified as Rev. C. Milbourne Smith was routed from the scene when he arrived prior to a scheduled attempt by the family to move into the row house in the previously all-white area. He drove away without getting from his auto.

The white man arrested was not immediately identified. State police placed him in a police car after he apparently had been pushed onto the hood of a state police vehicle and then resisted when troopers grabbed him.

Mothers kept their children out of the area as the mood of the crowd grew uglier. The crowd chanted in unison "down with niggers" and "2-4-6-8, we don't want to integrate."

Actor Won't Pay

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actor Hugh O'Brian will not have to pay $65,177 sought by a model who claimed she fell down a stairway trying to elude his amorous advances.

Judge Philbrick McCoy ruled that the suit had not been brought to trial within the five-year limit prescribed by law. The complaint was filed July 22, 1958, by Zelia Melba Bennett, 28, of Santa Monica.

Former Law Dean Given Jail Term

NEW YORK (AP) — James M. Landis, former dean of the Harvard Law School, was sentenced to 30 days in prison today on income tax charges.

Federal District Judge Sylvester J. Ryan ordered that the term be served immediately.

"The sooner he serves the sentence, the better it will be for the defendant," the judge said.

Landis, who had held high positions in the federal government, pleaded guilty Aug. 2 to a five-count information charging that he failed to file "timely" income tax returns for the years 1956 through 1960.

The taxes since have been paid.

The defense contended that Landis was so engrossed in public affairs and the affairs of his clients he had "neglected his own personal matters, including the income tax returns."

Couple Jailed For Forged Credit Card

A young couple from San Francisco were jailed yesterday on suspicion of trying to buy $160 worth of clothes in San Rafael with a forged Bank of America credit card.

Gasper Breazeale, 19, alias Clark Stokes, was booked on suspicion of forgery. He is in Marin County Jail in lieu of $2,100 bail. His wife, Marie Breazeale, 15, was taken to Marin Juvenile Hall. The couple gave their address as 231 West Point Street, San Francisco.

Inspector Richard Camper of San Rafael Police said the couple walked into Trend Fashion at 1136 Fourth Street, San Rafael, and presented a credit card belonging to a Henry Klang of San Francisco. The card was reported stolen in San Francisco on Tuesday.

Police said Breazeale, alias Stokes, is also wanted in San Francisco and Redwood City for questioning in connection with burglaries.

'Customer' Had Nothing In Bank

George Lucas, 51, of 16 Welch Street, San Rafael, a guard at the Grant Avenue branch of the Wells Fargo Bank in San Francisco, took a suspicious customer into custody yesterday after the customer walked to a teller's window and said, "give me $500 in $50 bills."

The customer, John Joseph Fogarty, 61, of San Francisco explained to police later that he wanted to get some money so he could go to Los Angeles. Trouble was, he had no account at the bank.

Federal Bureau of Investigation agents booked Fogarty for attempted bank robbery. He was not armed.

Man Walks Up To Another In Bar—Pow!

Eric Tofte of Greenbrae, 37, was in a satisfactory condition at Marin General Hospital today with a broken nose he got after being hit while sitting at the bar in the Trident Restaurant on Bridgeway in Sausalito at 11:50 p.m. yesterday.

Tofte, landscape architect living at 35 Corte Sereno, told Sausalito police he was sitting at the Trident bar when a man walked over to him for no apparent reason and socked him on the nose, knocking him to the floor. Tofte said he had had no conversation with the man, who left the bar without being detained.

"Peter Sterner, the manager of the Trident, and the bartender both say they didn't see anything," said Sausalito Police Chief Howard W. Goerndt. "The officers are very upset they aren't getting any cooperation from the Trident. The investigation is continuing."

Another Turncoat Leaves China

HONG KONG (AP) — Albert Belhomme, a U.S. Army turncoat in the Korean War, came out of Red China today, disillusioned with communism.

The former sergeant from Ashland, Pa., entered Hong Kong accompanied by his Chinese wife, Hsio Ying, 28, and their three sons, ranging from 1 to 6 years. All looked fit and happy.

Belhomme, 34-year-old native of Belgium, said he planned to take his family to Antwerp, Belgium, in a few days. He said his mother still lives at Ashland.

He was the second turncoat to cross the border this month after nearly 10 years in Communist China. The other, Lowell Skinner of Akron, Ohio, left his Chinese wife behind and returned to the United States.

"I was burned politically," Belhomme told newsmen at the border. "I was politically disillusioned.

"My main concern now is my family. I want my children to have a better future."

Group Discusses Forming Geronimo Sanitary District

Concerned with the possible further development of San Geronimo Valley, representatives from a number of civic organizations met at Lagunitas Lodge last night to discuss the possibility of forming a sanitary district to cope with the problems that will develop from future growth, according to E. L. Barnett of Forest Knolls.

Richard D. Godino, deputy county counsel, at the invitation of the group, was asked to explain the various kinds of districts that could be formed to best serve the needs of the residents of the valley.

Several plans were submitted for study: a public utilities district, a communities services district, a sanitary district and others that are designed to care for a growing community and for future development, Barnett said.

Methods of financing, boundary coverage, and many other problems involving the organization of such a district were discussed and explained by Godino.

There will be a meeting Sept. 12, possibly at the Lagunitas School, if arrangements can be made with the school authorities, to which all residents of the valley will be invited. County Supervisor George Gnoss, County Sanitary Engineer William Desmond and Godino will be invited to attend the meeting.

Board Awaits Report On Fire Zone Areas

Marin supervisors agreed yesterday to wait for a negotiated report on what fire zoning should be set for unincorporated areas of the county.

The report is to be prepared after negotiation between county officials who favor less restrictive fire prevention construction laws and some fire chiefs who ask tighter controls.

Supervisors yesterday discussed the merits of various types of exterior and interior fire wall construction for commercial and manufacturing buildings in relation to their position in more or less congested areas.

Unable to reach a decision on the technical problem and related fields such as the effect on fire insurance rates and builders protests that tighter construction controls would hinder building because of added costs, supervisors asked for a report within a month.

Supervisors agreed that the type of construction required should be tied to zoning of the area (whether zoned for residential, commercial or other use). Some fire chiefs have recommended four-hour fire resistant wall construction for heavy commercial and manufacturing areas; county officials generally favor two-hour construction.

Larkspur Master Plan Is Ahead

Planning consultant John Erickson hopes to be able to offer some data for policy decisions regarding a new Larkspur master plan about Nov. 1, several months ahead of schedule, he told a joint meeting of five citizens committees last night.

The committees have been working with Erickson, planning interns Sheldon Backus and Dobie Jenkins and the city planning commission to gather data for the new plan.

At last night's meeting in city hall, Erickson and the interns reviewed material gathered so far by the citizens committees.

Slayer Granted Re-Trial

Raymond M. Hamilton, a double slayer, who had the death penalty reduced once, is trying again to get off Death Row at San Quentin.

Hamilton, convicted of killing his estranged wife and her boy friend in Berkeley, May 20, 1959, has been granted a re-trial on the death penalty for killing the boy friend.

Originally Hamilton was given the death sentence twice, once for killing his wife, Estelle, and once for killing her boy friend, Lorenzo Bernard.

After a re-trial in February, 1962, the penalty for killing his wife was set at life imprisonment, but the penalty for killing Bernard remained at death.

Hamilton was removed from Death Row Monday and placed in custody of the Alameda County Sheriff's office. The Alameda County Superior Court reported today that the trial date has not yet been set.

Carpenter Injured In Cycle Crash

Dale P. Barnard, 20, carpenter of 555 Pixie Trail, Mill Valley, suffered head cuts when his foreign motorcycle crashed on a curve of the northbound connector road from Highway 101 into Corte Madera about 5:50 p.m. yesterday.

He was treated at Marin General Hospital and then booked into Marin County jail by California highway patrolman Angelo Corvino on suspicion of being drunk in or about a vehicle. He was freed on $105 bail for appearance in municipal court Tuesday.

Five More Miners Surfaced Alive, 10 Others Found Dead

MOAB, Utah (AP)—Five more trapped miners were rescued alive and in good condition yesterday, but 10 others were found dead.

The final toll was 18 killed.

Seven survived; two were rescued earlier.

The five found last night were in surprisingly good condition in the same deep tunnel from which the other two escaped Wednesday morning, the day after 25 miners were caught 3,000 feet down by an explosion.

Eight men were already known dead when two rescue teams started a now or never search for the remaining 15 late in the afternoon.

Within 90 minutes, June Crawford, chief engineer of the Texas Gulf Sulphur Co., owner of the potash mine, announced emotionally: "Five survivors have been found in the east shaft. The men are walking out of that drift!"

Then up they came by the lift, grimy but smiling, in such good condition there was little need of treatment. And one of them, Grant Eslick, said, "Sure, I'm ready to go back to mining."

Three hours after the rescue, Crawford had to tell the tearful wives and parents still waiting by the mine what most of them had feared: The last 10 men in the other tunnel where the blast occurred were dead.

Amid some miner's charges that safety precautions were lax at the mine plans were announced for a joint state-federal investigation starting Monday. A state official said: "We'll subpoena and question everyone who might have anything to say."

The last five survivors owed their lives to the first two and their own makeshift barricades that kept out deadly gasses while they awaited rescue.

When Paul McKinney and Donald Hanna started out the tunnel toward safety Wednesday, they came across a ruptured air line leading back to the other five. They paused to fix it, weren't able to get the ends completely together, but came close. It was enough.

Thomas Trueman of Toronto, Canada, propped himself up on one elbow in a hospital bed, turned to Hanna in the same room, and said:

"You may have got us only a little air with that patch job on the line, but boy it was enough."

"It was the best we could do, Tom," Hanna replied.

Trueman said the trapped miners could only wait for the rescue they were certain would come.

"There wasn't much to do down there," he said. "I guess we did not do anything."

But Eslick said it wasn't as simple as that. "We were nearly hysterical at one point," he said. "But fortunately it passed."

He apologized to his wife and daughter with:

"I'm sorry that you all had to go through such an ordeal."

Eslick's daughter, Trudy, 20, laughed and said:

"Dad, you look just about like you do when you come home from hunting."

Ironically, three of the victims might still be alive if they had joined the original seven in building the barricades far to the rear of the tunnel and away from the blast.

Hanna said the trio refused to join his crew in heading toward the rear of the tunnel.

Mrs. John Pinall, told by authorities her husband's body was too badly charred to identify, turned to a sheriff's deputy and commented bitterly:

"Maybe next time they will put dog tags on them."

Then she burst into tears.

Criticism arose yesterday when rescue operations were suspended by trouble with air lines needed by the workers.

Most of the day was spent repairing the lines and Hanna and McKinney were sharply critical of some phases of the operation, blaming the state for a "lack of inspection."

In Washington, the Bureau of Mines ordered a federal probe and sent a team here. Gov. George D. Clyde promised a state investigation.

Fire House To Get Remodeling

The Tiburon Fire Protection District commission at a special meeting last night voted to proceed with remodeling of the main fire house on Tiburon Boulevard.

According to Chief Frank J. Buscher, the old garage, now used as a workshop, will be torn down and a new workshop added at the rear of the building. An alarm room will also be added and the chief's office to the front to make it easier for the public to obtain permits.

Bruce E. Moody is the architect.

Marichal Tries To Halt Explosive Dodgers Tonight

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The Los Angeles Dodgers are off and running today in an attempt to prevent the San Francisco Giants from duplicating their stunt last year when they tied the Dodgers at season's end and won the pennant in a playoff.

It was a big night all-around last night when the Dodgers won the first game of a four-game series by an 11-1 score.

The league-leading Dodgers lengthened their edge over the scond-place Giants to 6½ games before a Dodger Stadium record crowd of 54,978.

Tonight the Giants send their ace Juan Marichal (19-7) against Don Drysdale (16-16). The game will be televised to Northern California over KTVU, Channel 2, starting with a pre-game show at 7:30.

Last night Sandy Koufax became the major leagues' first 20-game winner with a neat three-hitter, horse-collaring such Giant sluggers as the two Willies—Mays and McCovey—and Felipe Alou.

Orlando Cepeda got the lone run off the Dodger southpaw on a 400-foot homer over the left field wall in the second inning. It was his 23rd.

This tied the score at 1-1 but the Dodgers batted around in the third inning when they got five runs on six hits and again in the fifth when they got three runs on four hits.

Big men at the plate for the Dodgers were Frank Howard who batted in three runs with his 23rd homer and a single; Ron Fairly who got three singles in five times at bat and knocked in four runs; Willie Davis who got three hits including a pair of doubles and scored two runs; and Maury Wills who batted in two runs on a pair of singles and scored twice.

Billy Pierce who succeeded Giant starter Bob Bolin in the second inning took his 10th loss against three victories. In the third, he got crunched under a single by Wally Moon, Tommy Davis' double, a Fairly single, Howard's home run to the centerfield pavilion, Willie Davis' first double—a blooper to left—and a Wills' single.

In the fifth it was somewhat the same story with relief pitcher Jack Fisher on the mound as Wills opened the festivities by beating out a hit to shortstop. Jim Gilliam walked, and there followed three singles by Moon, Tommy Davis and Fairly.

Fisher gave up a total of five runs during his 3⅓ innings. Frank Linzy finished out the last two innings.

Koufax, now 20-5, meanwhile was coasting along and he didn't walk a man until the eighth when he gave his only free pass to Cap Peterson.

Koufax is the first Dodger lefthander to win 20 games since Preacher Roe won 22 and lost three in 1951. He's the first National Leaguer to win 20 since Warren Spahn of the Milwaukee Braves had a 21-23 record in 1961.

Koufax said later he wasn't exactly thrilled by winning 20 but "got a lot of satisfaction out of it." He was asked what his next goal was and he said, "to win a World Series game."

His only series decision is a 1-0 loss in 1959 to the Chicago White Sox.

Giant Manager Alvin Dark didn't seem too downcast about the loss to the Dodgers.

"Before this game, I said we'd have to win five out of our last seven games against the Dodgers—now it's five out of six. This loss won't have any effect on our club."

Dark reported Cepeda may not play this evening in the second game of the series because of a thigh injury.

The BULLPEN

With JOHN J. CONNOLLY

Phil Cavaretto, Detroit Scout, Is Giving Giants Some Serious Looks

CONNOLLY

You may have heard him on the Giant clubhouse show. Or you could have read about him in the papers on his initial visit to Candlestick Park where he studiously has been watching the S.F. club behave.

In case you're wondering—he is Phil Cavaretto, once a Chicago Cub first sacker, pitcher and outfielder who finally wound up managing the club. That was in the middle 30's. But today Phil is scouting for the Detroit Tigers.

Like S.F., the Detroit Club has a lot of players who are good, yet not contented 100 per cent with their lot and it is for this purpose that Cavaretto is here on an inspection tour.

THE THOUGHT of what talent the Giants have to offer, and to name them, is quite daring at this time when the Giants are in the death throes of a dying shot at capturing the 1963 pennant. If they succeed, all the names, and possible trades, will fly out the window like a bat on a holiday.

But in case you are fearful of names being mentioned, let me advise you that players like Jack Sanford, Felipe Alou, Ed Bailey, Billy O'Dell, Chuck Hiller and a lot of lesser lights on the club could very well be ticketed for other ports in 1964.

But remember, the Giant players who are expendable are not to be confused or considered as "give away players." The S.F. club has got to get some pretty sharp performers in exchange.

Take pitchers like Gaylord Perry, Billy Pierce, Jack Fisher and Billy Hoeft and you might say they are cinches for trade material, if any other club, or clubs, has any affection for them.

NOBODY can ever expect pitcher Jim Duffalo, now that the flag of truce has been launched with manager Alvin Dark, to be traded. He's about as sure of being retained as even Willie Mays. And take it from me, Duffalo will be a starting pitcher in 1964, as will Bob Bolin. The orders haven't been given to manager Dark but you can bet he'll get 'em before the spring camp opens.

The failure of Duffalo and Bolin to be developed as starting pitchers in 1963 is one of the most glaring miscues manager Dark committed.

The only reason Jimmy Davenport is not available in the trade marts is on account of his golden glove. It's too valuable to lose. But if Jimmy expects to hold a regular berth he'd better start getting tough. He is altogether too brittle for insurance purposes. And every time Jimmy gets hurt, it seems to shove the club back into trouble.

The difference between Chuck Hiller and Davenport is that nobody believes Chuck will ever become a Charley Gehringer as a second sacker, either in the field or at bat.

AND BESIDES if Jim Hart, out for the season, returns in 1964, he definitely will start at third base with Davenport likely to move over to second base.

All of the speculative thinking about the Giants hinges, of course, on the results in the next month. Should the club catch on fire and make a real stab at the pennant, all the speculations will be changed.

BOAT RIDE TO GIANT-DODGER GAME OFFERED

There are about 50 tickets left for a boat ride to Candlestick Park and a seat for the Giant-Dodger game on Sept. 7 in an excursion sponsored by the Junior Catholic Social Service Auxiliary.

The tickets, at a cost of $7, include the trip across the Bay and a reserved seat in either Section 1 or 3 behind home plate, lower deck. The boat, "Harbor Queen," will leave the Dock Restaurant in Tiburon promptly at 11 a.m.

Reservations may be obtained from Mrs. Phyllis Bernardini of 10 Sunview Avenue, San Rafael.

Chicago Cub Lefty Gets Win No. 19

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

While the Dodgers' Sandy Koufax became the major leagues' first 20-game winner of the season last night, Dick Ellsworth won No. 19 yesterday as the Chicago Cubs edged Philadelphia 2-1.

Ellsworth, now 19-7, became the winningest Cub left-hander since Jim Vaughn won 19 in 1920 when singles by Ellis Burton and Billy Williams and a double by Ken Hubbs snapped a 1-1 tie in the eighth. Ellsworth checked the Phillies on six hits — one Earl Averill's homer in the sixth that had tied the score. Burton drove in the first Chicago run with a sacrifice fly in the fifth.

Baseball hall of famer Bob Feller pitched 12 one-hit games for the Cleveland Indians, a major league record.

Hapless 49ers Eye First Win Tonight

BAKERSFIELD (UPI) — The San Francisco 49ers, hungry for a victory but not too optimistic, meet the Dallas Cowboys here tonight in the fourth exhibition game of the year.

Coach Red Hickey has bemoaned the fact that more of his regulars are on the injured list than are sound and healthy. From five to eight players are handicapped with various ailments.

End Monty Stickles will be out for the game while doubtfuls include Kermit Alexander, Eddie Dove, Carl Kammerer, all backs, and John Thomas and Len Rhode, linemen. All but Stickles may see limited action. The Cowboys, on the other hand, are practically at full strength with only Art Houser, veteran tackle, on the hospital list.

The 49ers have not won a game this exhibition season while Coach Tom Landry's charges have won a 17-14 decision against the Rams and then lost to Green Bay and Los Angeles. The 49ers dropped decisions to Minnesota, St. Louis and Cleveland.

A crowd of 12,000 to 14,000 is expected for tonight's game, which is to be played in 75-degree temperature.

Hickey is not certain who he will start at quarterback. John Brodie has been getting the call but his performance last week left something to be desired.

The rest of the starters also seem to be question marks.

The 49ers worked out yesterday afternoon and then flew here and, aside from a short meeting today, will rest until game time. The Texans also went through a brief morning workout in their training camp at Forest Grove, Ore., and will take it easy until the starting whistle.

The Texans have yet to beat San Francisco in pre-season play and will shoot former U. of Pacific quarterback Eddie LeBaron and Don Meredith at the 49ers.

Probable offensive backfield starters in the first pro game to be played here, are: John Brodie at quarter; Lloyd Winston and Bernie Casey at halfbacks and J. D. Smith at full for the 49ers and LeBaron; Amos Bullocks and Frank Clarke, halfbacks with Amos Marsh at full for the Texans.

Have 49ers Pushed Panic Button? Team In Worst Shape In Memory

RANDOL

The unkindest cut of all is the one that comes from way out in left field. The 49ers were struggling to their third straight exhibition loss last Sunday when my press box neighbor murmured, "I wonder how the Oakland Raiders are doing?"

The Raiders were doing very well, thank you; the Niners were not. And are not. As a matter of fact, I would guess that the panic button has been pushed.

Going into tonight's game with the Dallas Cowboys in Bakersfield, and with the NFL opener just two weeks away, the 49ers look to be in the worst shape of any San Francisco team in memory.

Worried Coach Howard "Red" Hickey has been grasping at straws in a vain attempt to shore up the sagging efforts of the local footballers. Castoffs from other NFL teams have been picked up at face value—the $100 waiver price or for free—and 49er fans will be paid off in trading stamps.

THE REGULAR 49er lineup is being shuffled like a cold deck in the hands of an amateur gambler, and the castoffs are being dropped in like extra jokers in a penny ante game. When a one-eyed jack shows up at quarterback, throw in your cards.

Take your choice. Rookies with unknown potential slide up and down on the bench gathering splinters with has-beens who haven't been around long enough to learn the plays. Both groups are waiting to substitute for veterans who have proved year after year that they are not good enough to win a championship. One of these days the Niners will sign up a Raider castoff. Why not?

TYPICAL FAN reaction: Last Sunday the Niner bench was standing to watch another futile goal-line stand when a loud voice in the lower seats yelled, "Sit down in front, you bums; I PAID to see this game!" To prove that even pros have rabbit ears, half the players immediately went to one knee. Could be both knees would have been better.

It must be remembered that the 49er lineup has been riddled with injuries last season and throughout the training season. It should also be remembered that, in body contact sports, injuries most often show up on teams that lack ability or desire. Or both.

THE ALWAYS loyal family of Coach Red Hickey sat in their usual seats in the press box and suffered along with their headman. Owner Vic Morabito was not in his usual press box seat, and rumor has it he will not return for future contests but will view from an isolation booth. Study in contrasts.

Before the Brown game, new public relations man Art Johnson forced a smile and said, "How do I feel? Ask me about 4 o'clock this afternoon." At 4 o'clock no one was asking.

BITTER? YES. When hope is gone, bitterness has a way of sneaking in the back door. Last year's 49ers showed a very spotty offense and the worst defensive record in the entire league. From all appearances things have gotten worse rather than better.

So far this year the Niners have been unable to win against three of the weaker teams in the league. It gives you shivers to think what might happen when they bump into the likes of Green Bay, Detroit and Chicago twice.

Mrs. Marsh Is A Big Golf Winner

Mrs. Berry Marsh today is $36,300 richer after winning the Las Gallinas Women's Golf Club "Million Dollar Tournament" which ended Tuesday.

However, Mrs. Marsh, Class A winner in the tourney, will not be able to reach Arnold Palmer's money - winning figure because his money is "for real" and her winnings are in "play money."

Mrs. H. W. McCarley was Class B winner with $29,200, and Mrs. Mary Weaver was tops in Class C with $12,000.

BUTTS CASE

Court Erred, Post Lawyers Contend

ATLANTA (AP) — Attorneys for Curtis Publishing Co., seeking retrial of Wally Butts' libel suit, contended today the court erred in ruling out testimony about a woman they described as a companion of the former football coach.

The motion for a new trial was filed in U.S. District Court after Judge Lewis R. Morgan yesterday issued a stay of execution of the $3.06 million judgment awarded Butts by a jury last week.

Citing 23 grounds as error, Curtis attorneys asked that the verdict be set aside because of "gross excessiveness." Butts, 58-year-old former athletic director at Georgia, sued for $10 million because of a Saturday Evening Post article charging that he and Coach Paul "Bear" Bryant of Alabama rigged a football game.

The motion said the court erred in refusing to admit testimony from a woman identified as "E. Smith" or "E. C. Smith" of Atlanta.

Attorney Welborn B. Cody, chief counsel for the publishing firm, and his associates contended they should have been permitted to question Butts about the woman and to call the woman as a witness. Pre-trial testimony was taken from her.

Such evidence, the attorneys argued, was admissible because it refuted Butts' testimony that he had never done anything to injure the University of Georgia; to mitigate damages and "to prove that the plaintiff was a corrupt man."

Other grounds cited by Curtis attorneys were "excessiveness of the verdict," abridgement of the publisher's rights and evidence of false testimony by a witness.

Hank Lauman, a member of the American Machine and Foundry Co. staff of champions, will be at Stan's sport shop in San Rafael all day tomorrow to give free bowling tips before the winter bowling season starts in Marin, it was announced today.

Lauman, named Bowler of the Year by California sports writers in 1954 and 1958, will discuss individual traits with interested bowlers during his stay at Stan's, in hopes of improving their game.

Lauman owns four sanctioned 300 games and three ABC-sanctioned series in the 800 bracket and was the Southern California Masters champion in 1958. He resides in Los Angeles.

SOMEBODY UP THERE LIKES THIS GOLFER

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—George Warner is 25, has been playing golf for 18 years and regularly shoots in the high 70s. Yesterday, playing in the state four-ball tournament, he teed off with an eight-iron on the 140-yard, par 3 fifth hole at the Yale University course.

He topped the ball, which means he didn't hit the shot well at all. But it bounced toward the green and bounced and bounced and bounced and finally bounced into the cup for a hole-in-one.

George Werner, better known as the Rev. George Werner, pastor of the St. Peter's Episcopal Church in Milford, Conn., smiled.

Treemen Nip CC Bowl In Tight Duel

Sohner Tree Service pushed across a run in the bottom of the seventh to nip Country Club Bowl, 1-0, last night in "A" division of the San Rafael Men's Softball League.

Dan George double to right center to open the inning, moved to third on a wild pitch and scored the winning run on a passed ball to break up a brilliant pitching duel between Country Club's Earl Lowe and Sohner's Jay Leatherwood. There were no outs when George scored.

George's hit was only the second safety for Sohner. Leatherwood limited the losers to four scattered singles.

Busy Labor Day Weekend On Tap For Pro Football Fans

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Detroit's injury-battered Lions and the Pittsburgh Steelers collide tonight in the kickoff game of a busy Labor Day weekend of pro football exhibitions.

The Lions and the Steelers meet at Detroit in a rematch of their battle in last season's Playoff Bowl. Detroit won that game between the National Football League's division runners-up, 17-10.

In another NFL game tonight, the Dallas Cowboys will take on San Francisco's winless 49ers at Bakersfield, Calif.

Four more matches are on the NFL schedule for Saturday night. The Baltimore Colts, with a perfect 3-0 pre-season record, meet the Washington Redskins, 0-2, at Norfolk, Va. Minnesota's Vikings, also 3-0, play the Philadelphia Eagles, 1-2, at Hershey, Pa.; the Cleveland Browns, 1-2, meet the Rams, 1-2, at Los Angeles; and the St. Louis Cardinals, 1-1, and Chicago Bears, 2-1, tangle in the annual Armed Forces game at Chicago.

All eight American Football League teams also will be in action in the final tune-ups for their regular season opening next week. On Saturday, the Houston Oilers, 2-2, and Kansas City Chiefs, 3-1, play at Wichita, Kan.; the Denver Broncos, 2-2, and Buffalo Bisons, 2-1, are at Winston-Salem, N.C.; and the Oakland Raiders, 3-1, meet the Chargers, 3-1, at San Diego. In a Sunday game between winless clubs, the Boston Patriots, 0-4, take on the New York Jets, 0-3, at New Brunswick, N.J.

The Lions beat St. Louis last week but lost plenty in the process — notably the fleet flanker, Pat Studstill. He suffered a severe knee injury and will be out for at least six weeks. Rookie halfback Larry Ferguson and linebacker Carl Brettschneider also were hurt against the Cards, and quarterback Milt Plum is not likely to be used tonight because of a knee injury incurred in Detroit's first exhibition.

The Steelers, as usual, are defensively strong this year. Big Bob Ferguson, Ohio State's famed fullback who was a disappointing rookie for Pittsburgh last year, is expected to see extensive action — possibly as a running mate for pile-driving John Henry Johnson.

The 49ers have shown vital weaknesses in their three preseason losses to date, principally in their running game and at pass defense. On the other hand, the Cowboys are rounding into form. All-league halfback Don Perkins, top man in Dallas' fine rushing attack, has recovered from an off-season foot operation and is ready for full duty for the first time this summer.

Marin Driver In Petaluma Races

Jack Dempsey of San Rafael will be going after more points tomorrow in the NASCAR-sanctioned stock car races at the Petaluma Fairgrounds after a second place finish in the trophy dash last Saturday.

Another Marin driver to place in one of the night's races last week was Joe Ball of Novato, a new entry.

Questions, Answers Pertaining To Dove Hunting Regulations

STEVENS

Once again we hand it to the boys at the home office. Once again they have released a "Question and Answer" paper forestalling the numerous inquiries concerning the "cans and cant's" of dove hunting.

I submit it herewith for your careful reading:

Q—How come the dove season opens on Sunday this year, when most seasons open on a Saturday?

A—Because the federal government regulations say dove season can't open until Sept. 1, which happens to be Sunday this year. If we waited until Sept. 7 to open on a Saturday we would probably find that most of our doves had migrated south to a warmer climate in the meantime.

Q—If I hunt for more than one day, may I legally possess more than the one-day limit of 10 doves?

A—Yes. After opening day you may possess a total of 20 doves provided you don't take more than 10 doves in any one day.

Q—If I am driving home with my own limit of doves, may I transport a pal's doves for him? His doves in a separate carton with his shipping tag attached.

A—No. Only a commercial public carrier may transport doves for your friend. The shipping tags only apply when doves are shipped by common carrier. You may NOT transport more than a legal limit per person in your car.

Q—How do I use the two dove shipping tags attached to my hunting license?

A—The dove shipping tags are not transferable—may be used only by you. They entitle you to ship doves twice during the season but not more than 10 doves on opening day and not more than 20 doves thereafter. The shipping tag must be completely filled out, signed, detached from license and glued to shipping container. On outside of the carton you must write your own name and address as the shipper, and the name and address of the receiver, plus an accurate description of the number and kind of birds in the package.

Q—May a party of hunters pool and ship their doves in one container to the same consignee?

A—No. However, a party of hunters may ship by common carrier their doves in one container provided each limit is accompanied by a shipping tag of the person who took the doves and all owners of the doves are present when birds are offered for shipment. Each limit would have to be consigned to a different person and each of those persons, or their representatives, would have to be present when container is received at its destination.

Q—May I take another hunter's doves to the shipping office?

A—No.

Q—May I ship doves by parcel post?

A—No.

I suggest that you cut the above out and keep it handy.

Note: The flight speed of a dove is normally 40 m.p.h., but may hit 60 m.p.h. in short spurts—roughly about 80 feet per second.

Venturi's 66 Leads At Denver

DENVER (UPI) — It has been a long drought for veteran professional golfers Ken Venturi and Bill Johnston, but they were off and running today at the head of the pack in the $35,000 Denver Open.

Each carded a 66 in yesterday's first round of the 72-hole tourney over the 6,774-yard Denver Country Club layout, good enough for a one-stroke lead. Neither has won a tourney since 1960 and each has pocketed only about $3,000 in winnings this year.

For the 32-year-old Venturi of Crystal River, Fla., who has been hampered for two years by various ailments, his physical condition pleased him as much as his hot, 4-under-par round.

"I feel fine," he beamed after burning up the course with a 5-under-par 30 on the front nine. "I've had two real bad years physically with a back ailment and tendonitis. Then, two months ago in Cleveland I was bruised in a car accident."

Rex Baxter Jr., Amarillo, Tex., who led the Denver Open through the first two rounds in 1962, came in with a 67 as did Bill Eggers, Henderson, Nev., and Lionel Hebert of Lafayette, La.

WEEKEND YACHTING

Windjammers In Santa Cruz Race

By ALFRED MATSON

The annual race of windjammers to Santa Cruz is a time honored event that always attracts a goodly segment of Bay Area sailors, particularly those with a bent for ocean racing under the stars. Sponsored by the San Francisco Bay Windjammers, the blue water hassle will start off the St. Francis Y.C. at 6 o'clock tonight with 43 listed starters in divisions "A" and "B." The finish line will be between the end of the Municipal Wharf and the whistling buoy which lies in a southeasterly direction.

Recorder Don Seaton and his crew will be at the finish line at 6 a.m. tomorrow. However, should conditions be so favorable that in the latter stages of the race a skipper estimates his time of arrival prior to that hour, he should so notify Seaton at the Palomar Hotel, via ship-to-shore telephone. The Santa Cruz Y.C. has announced that, unfortunately, its harbor has not been completed and asked that all yachts anchor off shore as in the past.

Ron MacAnnan's handsome "M" class Pursuit, SFYC, is the scratch boatof the glamor fleet.

FOR THE sailor allergic to ocean racing and also for those whose boats are ineligible, the Sausalito and Coyote Point yacht clubs have combined on a two legged race, albeit, they are separate events for the long weekend.

For tomorrow, the Sausalito bigwigs invite the yachtsman to participate in a bit of friendly conflict, starting at 12 noon off red buoy "2," marking Sausalito entrance, and ending between committee boat and stake boat, a halfmile north of Coyote Point harbor entrance.

On Sunday, at 12 noon, the homeward bound leg, better known as the Barth Trophy Race, will get underway, starting at the previous day's finish line. The end of the race for the Barth Trophy aspirants will be between Knox buoy and the committee boat.

Bang It Again—There's Still Some Paint Left

Some time ago, I described a few of my pet peeves that brought the bright red glow to my furrowing brow. One peeve I omitted, either through temporary mental paralysis, or lack of space (remember, Doug Cowan may approve of, or tolerate my peculiar literary bent, but he still measures the column inches and checks the budget) is the vicious sorehead who deliberately bangs the door of his old clunk against the side of your brand new Ford (taking full advantage of poetic as well as economic license, I recognize no other make).

It takes a particularly meager mentality, poisoned with envy, to viciously scar the finish of a new car, when ordinary common courtesy and little caution will permit entrance or exit from a car without physical contact to your neighbor's property. But the unfeeling and totally unprincipled moron who swings wide his door and ignores the sicking thud of contact with the next car obviously has little capacity for concern for his fellow man.

It is often too easy for those associated with the automobile business, selling thousands of new cars over the years, to lose sight of the singular thrill of acquisition most people experience upon taking delivery of a brand new car. How it gleams there in the driveway! And that new car smell! Nothing quite like it. Our men at Ames Ford are reminded often to recognize the importance of each individual sale in this light, and make certain that new Ford is as near perfect as men and machines can get it.

Is it any wonder, then, that the proud owner is steaming mad when he discovers the first inevitable scars on his pride and joy? And, when he spots the tell-tale evidence of his special paint job on the door edge of the clunk parked alongside, who can blame him if he's tempted to flatten all of it's tires in frustrating retaliation? Particularly would this reaction be forgivable when he hasn't made his first payment yet on a three-year contract, and already his budget has to strain for a paint job that will probably not match either.

Proper attitude and respect for the rights of others are traits unfortunately not bestowed upon all of us by the Almighty. I'm sure we were all born with equal capacity for goodness, but somewhere along the line, some of us, thankfully not a majority, twisted the Good Word into our own profane jargon, to guide us on our preferred path of self-obesession.

I can remember our little vegetable patch my Dad doggedly cultivated each spring in hopeful anticipation of reducing the required trips to the corner grocer, who was on the verge of bankruptcy for carrying us on the tab too long already. Each late summer, timed perfectly just before harvesting our pitiful horde, the vandals would swoop down in the dead of night, crushing, trampling, uprooting—but, taking nothing. One of these same vandals parked next to my wife's new T-Bird the other day. New paint job coming up!

I am confident none of our people at Ames Ford will ever scar your car, but if one does, grab him firmly by the ear and march him into my office. And, we'll repair the wound to your car and pride, too.

Visitors To Cuba Back In U. S.

REACTION TO RETURN—An unidentified American college student, one of 50 arriving at New York's Idlewild Airport last night from Cuba via Madrid, kisses field's concrete apron after stepping from plane. (AP Wirephoto)

Fifty American students who defied a State Department ban on travel to Cuba arrived in New York last night, and 10 of them were promptly subpoenaed to appear before the House Committee on Un-American Activities.

One of the students who returned from the unauthorized trip to Cuba was Carol B. Esteves, 20, daughter of Roger Esteves of 15 Lincoln Avenue, San Anselmo. She was not among those detained.

"She called late last night to say she was all right," her father said today. "We didn't talk about her impressions of the trip. She was completely pooped, and it was a reversed charge call so I didn't prolong the conversation. She'll stay in New York a few days before coming back to Marin."

Forty-four of the students staged a "stand-in" at Idlewild Airport to protest a government announcement that their passports would be invalidated.

The demonstration ended two hours later when they were told their passports would not be marked invalid. However, each student was presented with a State Department letter noting that his or her passport had been suspended because of the trip to Cuba.

"We consider this another victory," said Lee Levi Laub of New York, noting the withdrawal of the threat to invalidate passports.

Laub also called President John F. Kennedy's recent criticism of the trip a "red-baiting attack." At a news conference President Kennedy implied that some of the students may be Communists.

Laub said the students were "generally shocked" by the statement in which Kennedy also said action would be taken against any of the students found to be Communist Party members.

Phillip Luce of New York City, another leader of the group, said he, his wife and three others who permitted their passports to be stamped invalid would take legal steps to secure validation of them.

"We reject any insinuation that we have violated any rule or law," Luce said, adding that they were "exercising our constitutional rights to travel inside and outside the United States."

Luce, 26, a student at the New School for Social Research in New York City and an editor of "Rights," a publication for the Emergency Civil Liberties Committee, said the standard of living of farmers and students was "better than it was before Castro."

He said the students were regarded as a privileged class and "get everything, clothes, money and free tuition."

Luce said there was extensive rationing in Cuba and meat could be purchased three times weekly, although often it is not available.

"Certainly while food is not plentiful, no one is starving," he said.

Fifty-nine students originally accepted Castro's invitation to tour Cuba, but three decided to stay a few days longer and one drowned while swimming at a hotel pool. Four remained temporarily in Madrid, Spain, and one returned to the United States earlier.

Man Exposes Self To Girls

A tall, thin man stands by a creek in Marinwood and exposes himself to passing girls, a Marinwood father complained to sheriff's deputies yesterday.

The father told Deputy Sheriff Thomas A. Lightfoot that the incident occurred about 10 a.m. yesterday in a creek near the 400 block of Quietwood Drive. The girls, aged 8, 10 and 12, told their parents.

The man is described as possibly 50 years old and six feet tall. He wore dark trousers, white shirt and tie.

License Suspended

The State Department of Alcoholic Beverage Control has ordered a five-day suspension of the off-sale general liquor license of Edric and Marcella W. Noon and K. Darroll Ashpole, 5939 Redwood Highway, on charges of selling to a minor.

2 Women Fail To Feel Young With Egg Yolks

Two women who had hoped to feel younger by eating egg yolks, testified against Baron Andrew von Salza yesterday as his trial moved into the second day in Judge Norman Elkington's Superior Court in San Francisco.

Von Salza, represented by Belvedere attorney Vincent Hallinan, is accused of grand theft in selling rejuvenation treatments to the women.

Mrs. Betty Waegner of Rio Del Mar said that she believed the treatments which included a daily egg yolk, a massage and a steam bath, would make her feel younger and cure her arthritis.

"Of course I believed it. Do you think I would put up that kind of money ($7,500) if I didn't?" she said.

Mrs. Bodee Cimonoli of Woodside denied that she took the treatments to cure sexual difficulties. She too wanted to cure arthritis, she said.

A jury of 10 women and two men are hearing the case which continued today. The tall, suave Von Salza, once a chauffeur in Santa Barbara, announced plans last summer to open a rejuvenation hospital to make his treatments available to more people. He was looking for a site in Marin county.

Lien Against Subdivision Is Cleared

A lien against a Novato subdivision has been cleared with the deposit of the amount of the lien with the title company, it was learned today.

Marvin E. Lange of Oakland deposited $65,863 with the North Marin Title Co., said Ray Muir, manager of the company.

This will clear the title of the 92 lots in Novato Hills Unit 2, which is being developed by Sunland Builders as the Rolling Hills Estates of Marin, said Philip Aissen, salesman.

Prodanovich Inc. also of Oakland, on Aug. 16, got the lien on the subdivision for grading work done there.

On Tuesday, Lange filed a suit for $245,000 against Prodanovich. He deposited the money with the title company to clear the title of the lots pending the outcome of the lawsuit, Aissen said.

Challenge Of Career In Nursing

Eighth in a series of articles on Marin's working women.

By DOROTHY NEWELL

Nursing, one of the traditional careers open to women, was chosen by Mrs. Harold W. Avery of Novato for its "many advantages." Now director of nursing at Novato General Hospital, Dolly Avery found it quite a challenge to set up the nursing area when the hospital opened in 1961.

Mrs. Avery chose nursing as a career at the suggestion of a sister-in-law. "I had always intended to be a teacher, but when she suggested the many advantages of nursing, I decided to enter a nursing school."

SHE CAME TO California from Reno and entered St. Mary's College of Nursing in San Francisco, and was graduated in 1937.

In 1949, she moved to Novato following nursing duties at St. Luke's Hospital in San Francisco and San Rafael General Hospital and for eight years was night supervisor at Ross Hospital and to Novato General Hospital.

Dolly, as she is known to her friends and associates, was offered the position of director of nurses at Novato General Hospital when it opened. "It was quite a challenge, working with the director of the hospital, setting up the nursing area," she said.

For three shifts, Mrs. Avery directs 10 nurses plus part-time help and 15 nurse's aides.

A TYPICAL DAY begins for her when she arrives at the hospital and receives the report from the night nurse. Then medications have to be checked, and she helps with charting, makes out assignments and the next day's shift assists the administrator at staff meetings, interviews new employees and assists the dietician.

Mrs. Avery prefers a smaller hospital like Novato because she keeps in closer contact with the patients and other employes. And because it is a small hospital, Mrs. Avery is on 24-hour call if an emergency arises, because she also assists in surgery at times.

An average of 20 to 21 patients is maintained in the 30-bed hospital.

MRS. AVERY recommended highly the nursing profession for young women now. "The field is open to young women not only as bedside nurses, but also in the field of public health, industrial nurses, the space program, teaching and the armed services," she added.

Dolly also said that even if a young woman does not use her nurse's training professionally she will still find it valuable as a homemaker.

Dolly and her husband, who is a civilian employe at Mare Island, have two sons, Chris, a senior at San Jose State College and Steven, a student at St. Vincent's in Petaluma.

DURING THE time that her boys were growing up, Mrs. Avery left her profession for about five years, but she said, "I was very fortunate in having an uncle live with us that was very good to our boys."

As a hobby, Mrs. Avery likes to bowl and hike and, during vacation time the family likes to pack into the High Sierra to secluded camp areas.

Dolly has found nursing a very rewarding career in all the various areas that she has served, and she rates surgery the most interesting part of her work.

AS DIRECTOR of nursing at Novato General Hospital, Dolly Avery has to check medications, help with charting and make out assignments, but she rates surgery the most interesting phase of nursing.

MARIN SOCIAL WHIRL

Mrs. Livermore's Birthday Party Joyous For Everyone

By FLORENCE DONNELLY

The ovation given Mrs. Norman B. Livermore Wednesday at Marin Art and Garden Center, which she founded, was a dramatic experience not only for the guest of honor but for the hundreds of people who gathered at the luncheon to pay her homage.

There was none of the sentimentality so often evident at such tributes. Mrs. Livermore's calmness was conveyed to the huge assemblage. She accepted the plaudits graciously and insisted that the major credit should go to the tireless working groups of the Center. This is true, in a way, but it was Mrs. Livermore's leadership which sparked the workers. I reflected as she spoke, with not a quaver of the excitement she showed only in sparkling eyes and rosy cheeks. Here was the mother of five wonderful sons, who had always considered her family first but had given so much of herself to the county of Marin she loves. There was a bit of humor in her talk when she accepted the bird bath which will be placed with a plaque on the center grounds. She told of the various conservation projects she has sponsored and said the presentation of the bird bath stirred her "conservation soul."

She thanked the Marin County supervisors for their support of the annual Marfin Art and Garden Fair and said she was pleased that the proposed fair grounds at Marin Civic Center will be patterned after the fair at the MAGC "no race tracks, no honky tonk."

MRS. LIVERMORE, again speaking of conservation, said it did not matter how large the acreage is, it could be small like the center in the heart of Ross or thousands of acres on the coast, the important thing is the ideal, "leaving something beautiful for future generations."

George Livermore escorted his mother to the stage for the ovation. One of the most beautiful tributes was the Hugo Rinaldi's violin serenade to Mrs. Livermore. He was the first scholarship award winner of Marin Music Chest, which Mrs. Livermore had served as president.

IT WAS A HAPPY DAY for Mrs. Livermore and a joyous one for those who celebrated her birthday with her. There were 80 candles on the birthday cake, just tiny milestones, marking a lifetime of achievement.

Everyone had a happy day including myself. I was seated at the press table between Mrs. Harvie Freed, chairman of the 1963 luncheon series and Mrs. Melvin (Rusty) Duncan, president of the Northgate Group which sponsors the luncheon and fashion shows. Just back of us was a table of members of Marin Society of Artists, another active group at the center. I chatted with Mrs. Homer (Hilda) Hood and Gwen Stone, artists, and Mrs. Peter Skaer, co-chairman with Mrs. John Siemens, of all the sponsor groups at the center for the 1963 season. Mrs. Guy (Edie) Ciocca stopped to tell me that she has sold her home in Greenbrae to Dr. and Mrs. Thomas Walker, a delightful young couple with three sons. Edie and her son, Dennis, are living in an apartment at Hamilton Park, Ignacio. Dennis, who was graduated from Oregon State College, leaves in the master's degree in business administration at the University of Oregon in Eugene.

MR. AND MRS. JOHN MERRYMAN, who lived for the past year and a half in Washington, D.C., have returned to San Rafael and bought a home in Fairhills. The Merrymans' daughter, Memo, will return to Dominican where she will be an eighth grader. The Merrymans' son, Spencer, is engaged to Nadine Zavosky and they are now making plans for their wedding. The date has not been set, but the nuptials will not take place for several months.

Pixie Parents Group Plans Tea Sept. 12

A tea for its new members will be given by the Pixie Parents group on Sept. 12 at the home of the chairman, Mrs. Evan Goldenberg in Ross. The group will gather from 2 to 4 p.m.

All members as well as any prospective members are encouraged to attend, the committee said. Membership is open to all parents of preschool children and entitles them the use of Pixie playground in the Marin Art and Garden Center.

Tea decorations will take a fall theme to blend with the oriental decor of the home.

Lucas Valley Club Planning A Barbecue

Plans are being made by the newly organized Lucas Valley School Club for a family barbecue Sept. 28. Because parents in the Marinwood school community voted last spring to split the existing parent-teacher organization held jointly by Mary Silveira and Lucas Valley schools, each school now has its own unit.

Barbecue hours are 4 to 7 p.m., announce co-chairmen Capt. Joseph L. Brown and David F. O'Connor.

Other plans being laid by the organization, with John D. King, school principal, are for a survey of Lucas Valley community resources to be utilized in the parent assistance program at the school, which includes teachers', library, and clerical assistants.

The council for the Lucas Valley School Club is composed of Dr. and Mrs. J. Garland Stroup and Mr. and Mrs. Donald P. Sands Jr., presidents; Mr. and Mrs. Richard A. Henigan and Mr. and Mrs. William E. Mueller, vice presidents; Mr. and Mrs. Walter B. Van Gelder and Mr. and Mrs. John J. McDonough, corresponding secretaries; Mr. and Mrs. Richard H. O'Brien and Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Mullowney, coordinating council; Capt. and Mrs. Brown and Mr. and Mrs. O'Connor, recording secretaries; Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Spence Jr. and Dr. and Mrs. Paul Steinman, treasurers; and Miss Karen Jacobsen and Mrs. Lucille Leisure, faculty representatives.

Blaze Of Fashion Show For Novato

"Fall fashion paints a blaze" will be the theme of the fashion show and luncheon to be sponsored by the St. Francis Episcopal Churchwomen at Tomahawk Lodge in Novato. The luncheon will be held at 1 p.m. on Sept. 11.

Modeling the fall fashions will be Mesdames Don Spegal, Chester Hibbert, M. E. Silva, William Abel, Richard Shuck, William Burks and Robert Beebe and Linda Williams and Betty Benaski.

SHADES OF AUTUMN

The Larkspur Rose Bowl was the setting Wednesday afternoon for the "Shades of Autumn" fashion show and tea presented by the Ladies Auxiliary of the Marin County Assn. of Fire Departments. Here Mrs. Arthur Wedemeyer, left, president, exchanges a word at the beginning of the show with Mrs. Clive Coverdale, who was co-chairman for the event with Mrs. George Bartram, general chairman. Mrs. Jeretta Russell was the commentator for the show.

Removing Nail Polish

Have you spilled nail polish on your dress or rug? Don't use nail polish remover to get the spot out. Many fabrics today are made of synthetics and nail polish remover will dissolve them. For the safest method, handle fabrics with professional care.

For Better Grooming

Muffled Look

Muffled is the look for many of the fall sweaters too. Turtle neck treatments are plentiful in both the smooth surface and heavily ribbed pullovers.

Sixty Per Cent Of Women College Students Drop Out

Today 60 per cent of female students are dropping out before they finish their college training, some for purely scholastic reasons, but most because they are marrying at the age of 20 or less, or are involved in some kind of romantic entanglement.

"The fact that so many young women mistreat their obligations by confusing going-to-college with finding-a-husband can produce an atmosphere, on campus of a women's college, which seriously befogs the institution's immediate educational purpose and obscures the ultimate goal of women's education," says Dr. Thomas C. Mendenhall, the president of Smith College.

These marriages have been assailed as "idiotic" by Prof. William J. Goode, Columbia University sociologist, because the partners are emotionally immature and are stunting their intellectual growth.

Proof that many campus marriages end in divorce is found in a study of a county which houses a representative American college—the University of Illinois. Norman W. Paget of the Child and Family Service found a startlingly high correlation of young marriages and divorces.

How has this moral revolution come about? Judge Beatrice S. Burstein says, "Parents are so anxious for their children to be the belles of the ball they push them into early parties, early dating and situations they're not equipped emotionally to handle. They feel their children must be popular, otherwise they'll suffer a loss in status. But they don't seem to be aware they are playing with social dynamite."

Rules Dampen Fire Hazard

CHICAGO (UPI)—Take these precautions to keep homes safe from fires, says the National Board of Fire Underwriters.

—When cleaning the yard, never burn leaves on a windy day. If you do burn trash or leaves, always burn them in a covered metal container set away from any building or fence.

—Keep a garden hose hooked up for emergency use and have the hose equipped with threaded faucets.

—For a two-story house, keep a ladder in a handy place in case it is needed for rescue.

—Keep a back-pump or garden spraying equipment filled with water and in a place where you can get to it quickly.

The New Model

Out-hosing the ordinary garden hose is a new flow-through model. The reel is mounted on a cart and need not be unwound to supply water.

Medley Nuptials In San Rafael

Mrs. Edna Medley and her former husband, Clarence D. Medley, both of Los Angeles, were remarried Thursday, at the Episcopal Church of the Nativity in San Rafael.

The single ring ceremony was performed at 4 p.m. by the Rev. James H. Blundell. The couple was married in Marin in order that their son, Joseph Medley of San Rafael, assistant fire chief in San Rafael, could be present. He gave his mother in marriage.

Mrs. Medley wore an ice blue lace dress and her daughter, Mrs. Maurice Horn of Los Angeles, who was her only attendant, wore a beige suit.

Best man was the eldest of the couple's five grandchildren, James Bunch, the son of Mrs. Horn. Flower girls were their granddaughters, Linda Medley and Kimberly Horn.

WOMEN INSPECTORS check machine-peeled potatoes at a plant in Presque Island, Me., where many of the nation's frozen potatoes are processed. Processors predict that the processed potato will reign as king of the spuds in the near future. (UPI Telephoto)

Lady's Fair Set To Open Sept. 7

San Francisco's first exposition designed especially for women, Lady's Fair, will present a nine-day program at Brooks Hall, Sept. 7-15.

Producer Calvin R. Vogt conceived the idea for Lady's Fair and recruited actress-writer-traveler Ilka Chase to be official hostess and TV-newspaper personality Debbie Drake to demonstrate her figure control tips.

Daily Potato Peeling Ritual Automated Into Obsolescence

PRESQUE ISLE, Maine (UPI)—Mom's daily ritual of washing, peeling, slicing and frying potatoes is being automated into obsolescence.

There's a mild revolution under way in potato marketing and the "processed potato" one day soon may reign as king of spuds. A processed potato has many forms—french fried, potato puff (bite-sized has brown) and several others — but the main thing is that it is factory peeled, cut, cooked, frozen and package. All mom has to do is pop it into the stove for a last-minute warming up.

"WITHIN FOUR YEARS, half the potatoes consumed in the United States will be in processed form," predicts Leo M. Daigle, manager of the Maine potato marketing committee.

Five big processing plants are now operating in the heart of the Aroostook potato country, providing jobs in an economically depressed area and saving work for housewives.

In the 1958-1961 period, 4,830 of 71,000 carlots of potatoes shipped from this potato-growing district were in processed form, Daigle said. The market has expanded since and is expected to continue at a healthy clip.

Edmund J. Rollins, president of a frozen foods company at Washburn, Maine, said there was "some question" about local processing of potatoes when the idea was new a few years ago.

"That's pretty well answered now: The quality of the frozen product is excellent, as attested by steadily increasing production and sales," Rollins said.

"MAYBE THEY'RE not quite as good as grandma used to make," Rollins admits, "but they're so much cheaper and more convenient. We say you can't afford not to buy them."

Potato processing has created about 2,000 new jobs in Aroostook's five plants. In new plants and equipment, it has added a capital investment of several million dollars in this northern Maine area which for a century was economically dependent on agriculture.

Typical of the new processors is Potato Services, Inc. of Presque Isle. Starting from scratch in 1961, Potato Services has invested $4 million in a plant that covers nearly eight acres and is just now completing a 1,200-carload storage facility.

General manager M. L. Kimmel said the firm supplies all major food chains and some other processors. Major markets are east of the Mississippi, he said. Potato Services has one foreign market: Sweden.

Potato Services employs all local labor. At first, the complicated factory equipment was beyond their understanding, Kimmel said, but they caught on rapidly. Right now, a crew of 100 is priming the Potato Services plant for the fall rush which will get under way at mid-September.

At peak periods, the plant uses two and a half tank cars (20,000 gallons) of shortening a week to factory fry your potatoes.

AT NEARBY EASTON, Maine, another firm operates one of the nation's biggest potato processing and shipping facilities on a 51-acre site. The plant operates year-around supplying frozen processed potatoes to 250 cities east of the Mississippi and in 15 European, Asian, African and South American countries.

A tour of the plant starts with the raw potato bins. The potatoes chug along a conveyor belt to a peeler. Then they are hand-sorted for defects. A vibrating screen is used for sizing. Next follows blanching, frying, pre-cooling, freezing and packaging—all on an assembly line basis. The finished product is cold stored to await shipment.

It employs 300 persons on a three-shift day here and its operations include a plant in Elsa, Tex., to make polyethelene bags for packaging.

Freezing French fries was pioneered by Snow Flake Canning Co. in 1945. General Foods opened a plant for freezing peas at Caribou, Maine, in 1947 and went into potato processing in 1949.

AROOSTOOK POTATO growers of Presque Isle, now the Taterstate Frozen Foods Co., went into the frozen French fry business in 1947 and now regards itself as the nation's largest packer of that product.

Customers are indeed the boss in this relatively new thriving industry. For example, French fried potatoes must be golden brown to sell in the Boston area. New York customers prefer a whiter French fry.

Processors are confident of almost unlimited expansion of their business saying it's so much easier to open a package than fry your own.

Lunch Given For Exchange Student Here

Tanya der Bas, an American Field Service exchange student from Holland, was honored Tuesday at a luncheon given at the Meadow Club by Ellen Wieser, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Arnold Weiser of Kentfield.

Guests were a group of Redwood High School and Katharine Branson School juniors and seniors. Talk was of travel, since many of the guests had been on extended trips or had entertained students from abroad during the summer.

The guest of honor has been staying at the home of the H. Judson Mackbys of Kentfield.

Reading Skill Is Connected With Tot's Development

CHICAGO (UPI) — A child's reading skill is connected closely with his physical development and the background for learning he brings to his first day of school, teachers say.

"Parents are teachers" and "the most important partners of the school," according to a booklet published by the education department of Northern Illinois University, DeKalb, Ill.

Parents can teach visual, auditory and mechanical skills that are necessary foundations for reading instruction.

A child should be taught to recognize likenesses and differences in colors, shapes of blocks, toys, buildings, and other items common to his experiences.

He should know how to manipulate buttons and buttonholes, zippers, and laces so he can button or zip his coat, tie his shoes, and get his boots and mittens on properly.

THE AUTHORS suggest teaching the child also to follow simple directions, then increasingly difficult ones, to put away his toys and to stick with a task until it is finished.

A child should be given many opportunities to be with others his own age so he will learn to take his turn and to share.

Difficulties at home, such as illness or friction, teasing by brothers and sisters, and fears "often set up emotional blocks that prevent many students from getting the right start in learning to read," the authors said.

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Woman's Intuition Countermans Rule Book; Men Shouldn't Try

"Women are the limit," my partner said gloomily. "They should take each and every woman bridge player and strangle her at birth," he continued, with great relish.

JUST SOME

"Just some of them," I pleaded. After all, millions of women read this column, and I want them to know that I pleaded in their defense.

But I couldn't help sympathizing with my partner.

Opening lead — ♡ 5

We were defending against three notrump in the recent national tournament. It was the Life Master Pair Championship, so that every player was a Life Master and presumably knew quite a bit about the "correct" way to play a suit.

OPEN FIVE

I opened the five of hearts from the West hand, and South —a lady, I need hardly point out—won with the king.

She led the king of diamonds to force out the ace, and took the heart return with the ace.

South ran the diamonds, led a spade to the ace, and returned the queen of clubs.

My partner played the 10 of clubs, and declarer stopped to think—or whatever it is that a lady declarer does in such a situation.

FINESSE IS CORRECT

A finesse is "correct" in such a position. When you have 10 cards in a suit you are slightly better off finessing than playing for the king to drop.

No need to tell you what happened. The lady played the ace of clubs and captured the king. If she had finessed, she would have gone down two.

WOMEN WIN

We looked at the scoresheets later and discovered that several other players had captured the king of clubs. All of them were women!

Just for the record, I want to point out that a finesse is the "correct" play the next time you hold 10 cards in a suit.

But if you happen to be a lady reader, go ahead and use your intuition. Who am I to fight the facts?

A spinning wheel brings two strands of special wire up from the Brooklyn anchorage for its trip over the span.

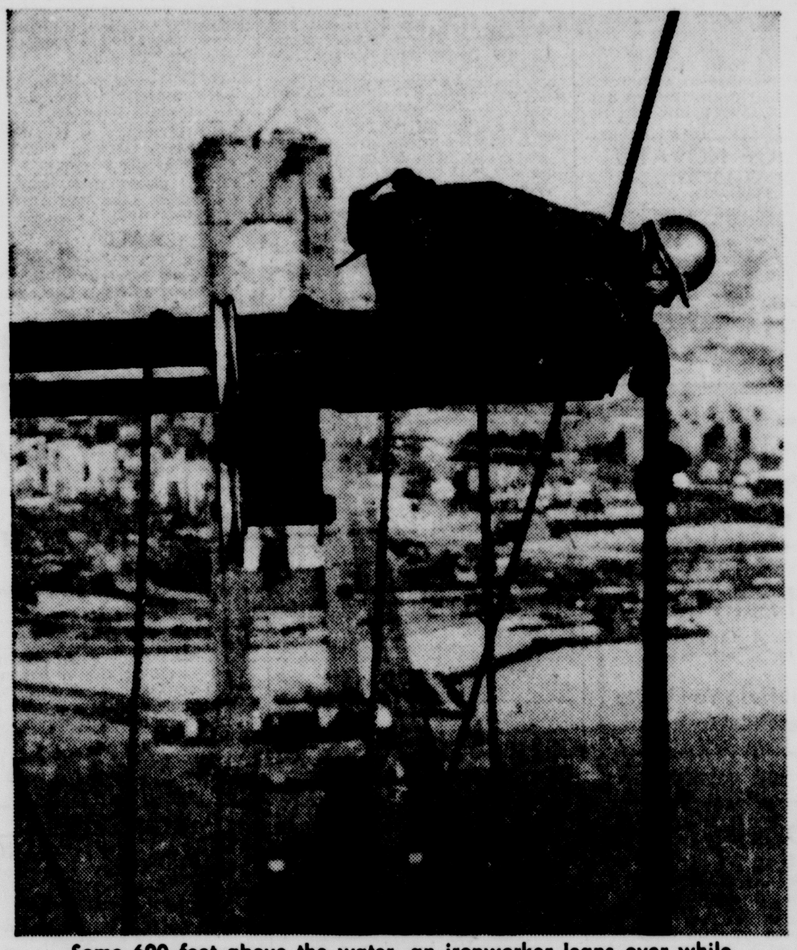
THE "BIGGEST" BRIDGE



Some 690 feet above the water, an ironworker leans over while bolting a cable support in place. The workers wear safety belts.

Massive needles, sunk into the huge bridge anchorages, will eventually serve as tie downs for the wires in the four bridge cables.

Engineers have called it "big, bigger and biggest."

Certainly the Verrazano-Narrows bridge, now being built across the entrance to New York harbor between Brooklyn and Staten Island, can lay claim to some massive statistics.

Its 4,260-foot main suspension span will be 60 feet longer than that of the Golden Gate bridge and the new world record holder.

When the bridge is completed in 1965 it will also be the world's costliest—325-million dollars.

Work is now under way on four 7,205-foot main support cables. Each cable will contain 26,108 separate wires made of special steel each just a little smaller in width than a pencil. All four cables will contain 145,000 miles of this wire.

The four cables will support a total weight of 133,000 tons.

The central span will hold a double decked roadway of six lanes each. The lower part of the span will be 228 feet above the high water mark.

Huge anchorages of concrete and steel will hold the cables. Just one of these, as high as an 18-story building and shaped so that the weight of the bridge will not pull it over, weighs 410,000 tons—more than the Empire State Building.

On a clear day passengers on ships far at sea will be able to see the twin 690-foot bridge towers long before they sight land.

Like the Golden Gate, the bridge will become a gateway to America and, like the Statue of Liberty and the Empire State Building, a symbol of New York.

Work platforms, 20 feet wide, are strung between the towers. The cross braces help to maintain stability.

Two American Bridge ironworkers use a power tool to tighten nuts and bolts on massive steel needles sunk into the Staten Island anchorage.

Nosey Rosey
and her curiosity paid us a visit last weekend. Her only comment was "These are the most colorful and livable 3 and 4 bedrm. homes I've EVER seen. Not only do you have a choice of homes but you can also choose your carpeting and other appointments. The view of the whole bay is simply fantastic."

Why don't you allow us the pleasure of showing you these new custom built homes at such low prices. Give us a call . . . P.S.—Rosey is in the process of buying one.

Arbitration New Challenge To Labor Issue

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Compulsory arbitration of the rail labor dispute adds still another challenge to a year of change in labor-management issues and solutions.

Sabbaticals for long-time employees, bonuses as compensation for automation, continuous negotiations to minimize strike threats, stress on fringe benefits rather than pay boosts, charges of racial bias by some unions and lack of equal job opportunities, and an increased emphasis on the public interest in labor disputes—all seem to be chiseling out a new look in labor-management relations.

Congress has ordered compulsory arbitartion for first time in a peace year. It has put off—at least for six months — the threat of a strike that would idle the nation's railroads.

The chief issue was over what management calls feather bedding — union-protected jobs that the companies say are no longer needed. This issue is debated in a number of other industries.

The issue is a variant of the chief concern in this year's labor talks. The unions primarily are worried over job security — the loss of jobs to machines of new work techniques, or to the changing consumer demand to different products or services. Management is equally concerned over cutting costs or getting into new lines that consumers now fancy.

The steel industry furnished clues to the new trend in three ways this year.

First, Kaiser Steel is paying bonuses to workers, their share of savings made through automation.

Second, the industry adopted a long-vacation plan that gives workers with seniority extended time-off every few years.

And third, the industry licked the strike threat pressure on contract negotiations—this year at least—by setting up a continuously negotiating committee to tackle labor problems as they arise and hammer out a contract ahead of a fixed deadline.

The electrical industry also has had study committees at work well ahead of contract terminations. Now the talks are coming out into the open. Longer vacations and more retirement pay are among the proposals.

Overtime and moonlighting also are coming to the front as issues because of this year's special conditions, chiefly the hard core of unemployment and the fear of many with jobs that they may lose them.

Many industries prefer to pay overtime when orders call for more output rather than hire new workers and become involved in all the fringe benefits that are an increasing part of the job scene.

And many employees, especially those subject to periodic work week shortening look for other jobs after work, or moonlighting.

It's all part of today's labor picture.

To this is now added the example of government embarking on compulsory arbitration in the public interest, and perhaps a trend toward a revamping of labor and management relations on many fronts.

Novatan Bruised As Auto Struck

A Novato man suffered bruises when the right rear of his car was sideswiped by the left front of another southbound car on Highway 101 about 100 yards south of the Hamilton Air Force Base gate at 7 p.m. Wednesday.

Maurice W Michl, 44, a plumbing foreman of 1434 Buchanan Street, said he would see his doctor.

His car was hit by a car driven by Matilda Green, 36, a housemaid of Vallejo, the California Highway Patrol said.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Readers Make Health Suggestions Warn Of Kissing Bug Bite Allergy

VAN DELLEN

One of our readers shares a pet peeve of mine and we'll pass it along for what it is worth.

"Don't you think it would be a good idea to include an article now and then against the practice of blowing out candles on a cake?"

Old customs are difficult to change and this is one of the most insanitary. Bacteria from the mouth are sprayed over the cake, especially by children, who do not appreciate the problem.

Most of the objections are esthetic but certain diseases could be spread in this way. In addition, cake offers an excellent place for micro-organisms to multiply and the least we can do is to throw out what is left when the party is over.

THE FOLLOWING suggestion comes from another reader: "I have had minor foot troubles, mostly calluses, for more than 50 years. Three years ago I found they disappeared when I stopped wearing the same pair of shoes two days in a row. I have six pairs of inexpensive shoes, all the same size, but of different styles."

This is a good practice. Alternating the footgear means the feet are not subjected to the same pressures or rubbed along the same areas day after day. In addition, the shoes have a chance to dry out while not being worn.

THE KISSING BUG (triatoma protracta) is becoming a problem for many inhabitants of California. In Mariposa county alone, more than 110 persons have had one or more allergic reactions.

Dr. Norman Nichols and Dr. Thomas W. Green say the bite is painless but itching develops shortly thereafter, followed by hives, nausea, vomiting, or fainting. Swelling of the eyes, tongue, and throat lead to difficulty in swallowing, speaking, and breathing. The engorged bug usually is found in or around the bed.

The injection of epinephrine or a corticosteroid and the use of an antihistamic product bring prompt relief. Reactions to the bite have been so severe, some victims have moved out of the foothills.

Others are clearing out the underbrush, rubbish, and wood rat nests in the vicinity of the house. In all probability, an extract will be developed to desensitize those who are allergic to the proteins of the Triatoma bug.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.)

HIGH FAT CONSUMPTION

M. G. writes: Could consuming a high fat diet over a long period lead to a disease such as diabetes or something?

REPLY

Obesity often precedes diabetes in a person who is predisposed to the disease. But overweight is not the cause. On the other hand, a high fat diet may increase the blood cholesterol and encourage hardening of the arteries.

BULGE MEANS OUTWARD

J. C. writes: Do hernias always bulge out or can they be inward?

REPLY

A hernia is a protusion of an organ or a part through some opening in the wall of its natural cavity. But some, like the diaprhagmatic hernia, bulge within the body.

NERVES AND PRESSURE

J. K. writes: Does the blood pressure control the nerves or do the nerves control the blood pressure?

REPLY

DUST FOR CORDS

J. N. K. writes: Do you know anything about the injection of bone dust to build up the vocal cords?

REPLY

No.

Kaiser Workers Share Profit

FONTANA (AP)—United Steelworkers at Kaiser Steel Corp.'s Fontana Plant will split $314,000 for July under the company-union sharing plan, Kaiser said yesterday.

Since the plan was inaugurated in March, $1,824,000 has been distributed among workers.

For July 4,800 employees will benefit. The company and the union said payments are equivalent to 16 per cent of standard hourly wage rates, on the average. It amounts to about 40 cents per participating hour.

Cost savings under the plan in July amounted to $847,000.

The objective of the union-negotiated plan is to share the savings achieved by improved efficiency.

Hamilton Field Day To Benefit Crusade

Food, athletic events and carnival games will highlight the third annual field day to be held Sept. 7 at Hamilton Air Force Base.

The field day will start at 10 a.m. A softball game between officers and senior noncommissioned officers is scheduled at 3 p.m. Proceeds from all events will go to the United Bay Area Campaign.

MARIN FILM FARE

'Irma La Douce' Opening At Rafael

By LES DARD

Here's your weekly round up of Marin County movies:

RAFAEL THEATER

Witty, bawdy and boisterous, Billy Wilder's "Irma La Douce" opens tonight with its two charming co-stars, Jack Lemmon and Shirley MacLaine.

This is the tender tale of a Paris woman of the streets who goes straight when confronted by a man whose blind innocence is as persistent as her matter - of - fact wickedness. It will definitely be among the hits of the year.

Very little remains of the stage musical from which it's taken. It is no longer a musical at all.

Irma falls in love with a policeman who is so naive he doesn't understand that "the girls" are as much a monument of Paris as is the Eiffel Tower. When he tries to run them off the streets, his superiors give him the sack instead of commendations.

So the officer becomes the girl's "business manager." The remainder of the plot concerns his efforts to make Irma into an honest woman.

The result of all this is most irreverent and a lot of fun—for grownups. Billy Wilder has managed to treat this bizarre subject in a light way few will find offensive.

MOTOR MOVIES

Now showing is "Beach Party," starring Frankie Avalon, Robert Cummings and Annette Funicello in a pleasant comedy which explores the love lives of teen-agers.

Avalon arrives at a beach cottage with marriage-minded Annette, planning a vacation alone. He finds to his dismay Annette has invited a dozen teen - agers to join them. Thus begins an uninhibited, unchaperoned beach party.

Cummings plays an anthropologist. He and his girl Friday, Dorothy Malone, observe the party shenanigans for a scientific comparison of the habits of American youths versus those of South Seas tribes.

Add to all this considerable hilarity, including that provided by Morey Amsterdam and Harvey Lembeck, and even a little pie-throwing slapstick .

Avalon and Annette provide rewarding moments of music.

NOVATO THEATER

If the British had set out to spoof "The Guns of Navarone" they couldn't have done it more adroitly than was accidently achieved in "Invasion Quartet," now showing at Novato.

The story begins in an English hospital early in World War II. Wounded, bandaged soldiers are playing cricket when "Herman," an enormous German gun across the channel, dumps a shell in the wicket. This is too much. Four of the wounded set out to silence the big gun.

They scrounge ammunition and a boat, down a Stuka dive bomber and dodge mines on their way across the channel. Once there, they slip past whole regiments of Germans, don uniforms and, eventually, achieve their mission.

Delightful.

101 DRIVE-IN

Frank Sinatra is delightful as the debonair, dashing bachelor in "Come Blow Your Horn," screen version of the hit stage show. He lives it up in the most sumptuous New York apartment Hollywood could dream up, surrounded by beautiful girls.

His life would seem one long delight, except for one thing: his old-fashioned Jewish parents don't approve of bachelorhood at age 36 — and especially such obviously enjoyable bachelorhood.

Into Sinatra's heaven comes young brother Buddy, fresh from college but singularly uninformed about girls, fancy clothes, and martinis. But he is an apt pupil, and Frank too good a teacher.

Molly Picon is delightful as the mother; Lee Cobb fumes and fusses well as the indignant father. Brother Buddy is played by a handsome newcomer, Tony Bill.

TAMALPAIS THEATER

Held over for the second week is the delightful romantic comedy "The Thrill of it All," with a first rate cast headed by Doris Day.

Though Doris doesn't sing, she is perfect as a suburban wife and mother, glamor girl, and comedienne.

As a thrifty housewife, she accidentally falls into an $80,000 a year offer to do a weekly TV commercial for a soap company. She is an instant success, but the job takes up all her time.

Husband Pames Garner objects to her neglect of himself and the children. One funny incident follows another as the script makes fun of family life, television, status-seeking and assorted American foibles.

TIBURON PLAYHOUSE

"Spartacus" opens on Sunday.

It has many big names, a cast of thousands, clanging swords and a staggering $12-million-dollar price tag. But it's a spectacular with a heart.

Kirk Douglas stars in the tile role, that of a Thracian slave who led a revolt of slaves against the ancient Romans, holding off their finest legions four years.

If you haven't seen it—don't hesitate.

LARK THEATER

A stream of life so realistic, so poignant and so compelling moves through this British film that it easily rates among the finest imports.

Leslie Caron achieves singular dramatic triumph as the brave little French girl who comes to London's slums to give birth to her illigitimate baby.

The oddly-shaped room in which she finds refuge proves a strange, fascinating world of bizarre personalities—all superlatively portrayed.

SEQUOIA THEATER

"El Cid" returns to this end of the Bay Sunday, a thundering epic of the days of Spanish knighthood, starring Charlton Heston, Sophia Loren and Raf Vallone.

The story is that of a legendary Spanish hero, an 11th century warrior - knight who successfully united warring factions of Spain to fight fanatical invaders from North Africa.

While the story itself is fascinating, it is in the dramatic telling that "El Cid" excels. Photography is striking and makes full use of Spain's grandeur.

FAIRFAX THEATER

Remaining a second week is "Mutiny on the Bounty," which offers a new and different interpretation of the Captain Bligh and Fletcher Christian of the Nordhoff and Hall sea story.

Marlon Brando renders Christion as a supercilious fop a twaddle-tongued dandy whose manliness is hidden until the film's climax. Trevor Howard is a more sympathetic Bligh than the earlier version, a tough but not cruel officer determined to make good.

Visually, the film is spectacular from its brisk opening at a British waterfront to the storm-tossed Cape Horn to the brilliant blue Pacific and the eye-feasting isle of Tahiti.

33 Attend San Jose Workshop

San Jose School District's fourth annual administrative workshop was held at Robles Del Rio Lodge in the Carmel Valley last weekend with 33 staff members and guests attending including all five board members.

The district paid the expenses of two board members, Daniel Barber and James Swenson, and all district personnel. The other three board members paid their own way and that of their wives and husbands.

(A similar workshop at Hoberg's in Lake County two years ago was investigated by the Marin County Grand Jury. The expense was ruled legal at that time.)

The conference opened Friday night with Supt. Ralph Giovanniello setting the theme for the conference: "A team approach to opening communications in problem areas."

Trustee Barber, senior member of the board, reviewed the history of the district since he became a board member.

Discussion of groups covered problems related to community and parents, problems of the classrooms, problems related to teachers, widely differing philosophies, and communications between the board and staff.

Mental Health Advisory Board Named In Marin

A six-person mental health advisory board was appointed by Marin supervisors yesterday, one of the first steps necessary for the county to be eligible to receive state funds for mental health work under the Short-Doyle Act.

Appointed to the committee were Supervisor Byron W. Leydecker, Judge Richard M. Sims Jr., Tiburon; Dr. Paul L. Kingsley, a physician, Corte Madera; psychiatrists Dr. Joseph P. Gutstadt, San Rafael, and Dr. J. M. Stubblebine, Mill Valley; Mrs. Daniel A. Collins, Mill Valley; C. M. Croughan of the Novato Presbyterian Church.

The advisory group will aid in overseeing an projected unified county mental health program.

Exchange Student Finds Marin Much Like Home In Argentina

There may be no place like home, but exchange student Jorge Eduardo Martinoli, 18, finds the hills and sunny climate very much like his own Cordoba, Argentina.

He arrived in Novato last week after a whirlwind trip.

It was a thrill because he made the trip to Miami, Fla., with more than 200 other exchange students from Brazil and Argentina.

"For two days we were treated royally and shown the city," he said describing the reception given to the students by the people in Miami.

And it did not change much for him when he arrived in Novato to spend the year with the Maurice Baldwin family at 515 Davis Street.

Novato residents were hosts for the past five weeks to 22 other foreign exchange students enroute to their homes in the Orient. There were farewell parties for them, and Jorge was invited to many of them.

However, he has had time to make some comparisons between his home in Cordoba and the Bay Area.

"Our cities are not so modern as yours," he said.

The area is hilly around Cordoba, which is in the central part of Argentina, he said. He also stated that the climate is very much the same there as here.

At home, his family lives in the city in the winter and goes out into the country each summer. His father, Jose Martinoli, is a civil engineer and his mother, Fanny, is a kindergarten teacher. He has an older brother, Jose, 20.

His summer experiences in the country prepared him for his life on the Baldwin's 225 acre ranch. He has already done some horseback riding and started helping with the chores of taking care of the animals.

His companion going to Novato High School will be Dennis Baldwin, 16, who will be a junior this year. Other Baldwin children are Lee, 15, a sophomore, Bruce, 12, and Bryan, 6.

Jorge has already graduated from high school in Cordoba, so when he returns, he will be ready for college. He plans on studying law and diplomacy at the University of Cordoba, the oldest university in Argentina.

Corte Madera Parks Unit Reviews Trees

The Corte Madera Park and Recreation Commission decided Wednesday to determine how many trees are surplus in the town park and offer them to the two elementary schools in the town.

It also decided to review rules of the Mill Valley tennis courts as a guide for rules for the courts being constructed in the Corte Madera Park.

Lions Sponsor Wine Tasting

An afternoon of wine tasting will be sponsored by the Sausalito Lions Club from 2 to 4 p.m. Monday to raise money for a playground in Sausalito.

The Labor Day gathering, to be held at the IDESST Hall on Caledonia Street in Sausalito, will feature seven varieties of Napa Vista wine and cheese and crackers.

Tickets for the tasting, which is open to the public, may be acquired at a booth in the Sausalito Art Festival on the Central School grounds this weekend, said Ronald MacKenzie, Lions Club member.

Development's Sewage Plant Plans Reviewed

Plans for the sewage treatment plant for the Bahia development between H Lane and the Petaluma River were reviewed Wednesday by the Novato Sanitary District commissioners.

"The plant is so designed that it will be able to serve 4,000 people at first and can be expanded to serve 8,000 later," said Albert Tresch, District Manager.

The plans will be checked by District Engineer J. Warren Nute. He will report back to the board at an adjourned meeting on Sept. 9.
